THRILLING CREW RESCUE ON LAKE ERIE PLANE FAILS TO REACH LONDON AFTER SEA HOP

Coastguards Take Thirteen Ashore As Vessel Pounds

Twelve Men and Woman Rescued as Steamer Appears About to Go to Pieces on Ontario Shore of Lake Erie Following Big Storm.

Leamington, Ont., Oct. 23 (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Buffeted by heavy seas, a life-guard boat succeeded at noon today in taking off the crew of thirteen persons who were clinging to the heaved steamer N. J. Nessen, which was in danger of breaking up on the wave-battered Lake Erie shore at Point Pelee.

First attempt of the lifeboat to reach the ship was unavailing, the boat being pushed back shoreward time and again. Within half an hour, however, another attempt was made with more success and five men and Mrs. Alice Humphrey, stewardess, the only woman on board, were brought to land.

On the next trip the remaining seven men, including Captain Bernard Benson, who came off last, were rescued. They had been anxious about the life-guard boat being able to make the second trip, as the sea was, if anything, heavier than before. All were most concerned, however, about the condition of Mrs. Humphrey, who was near collapse from cold and hunger.

First cravins of the survivors was for warmth, and the next food. It was not until these were supplied that they were willing to talk of their experiences. Captain Benson said he had beached the vessel in order to save the lives of the crew.

The Nessen, a wooden ship owned in Detroit, was carrying iron from Detroit to Cleveland and was due yesterday morning. She had on board limited food supplies when the big storm overtook her.

Home Rescues Made By Boats

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 23.—Boats were called into service today to remove some residents of 200 homes in northeast Green Bay whose houses were surrounded by 2 1/2 to 3 feet of water following a rise of the East River during last night's storm, which did damage estimated at $150,000 in this vicinity.

MACDONALD TOURS VALLEY OF SAGUENAY

British Premier to Leave Chicoutimi To-night For Quebec City

Chicoutimi, Que., Oct. 23 (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Rain fell in the valley of the Saguenay River last night and early this morning, but it ceased in time to permit Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald to have a round of golf over the Prio brothers' course at Kenogami.

After a day spent in looking at the beauties of the Quebec countryside and visiting important industries in this vicinity, the British Premier spent last night quietly in his private car at Kenogami.

SEES WORKS

To-day's programme provided for further visits to power and paper plants of the district.

At noon Mr. MacDonald inspected the work under way at Chute-Caron for a development of 800,000 horsepower by the Alcoa-Power Company, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada, the Alvida plant of which he visited yesterday. There the Prime Minister and members of his party were given a camp lunch.

The afternoon schedule provided for visits to the developments at River Bend and Isle Malgou. At the latter place the Duke-Price interests have a

CITY WATER AGREEMENTS TO EXPIRE

Oak Bay Agreement Ends December 31 Next and Saanich in Spring

City Looking For New Agreements; Question of Price Open to Argument

The approaching expiration of water agreements between the city and Oak Bay and Saanich is the subject of preliminary negotiations now contemplated.

The Oak Bay agreement expires on December 31 next, and pourpaires have already opened with the Oak Bay Council looking to the drafting of a new agreement. The Saanich agreement will expire in the spring of next year, when its place will have to be taken by a new pact.

Increasing consumption of water in Oak Bay and Saanich may operate with an inverse ratio on the price charged. It is understood, before the ruling of the Provincial Water Board, on which the present Oak Bay agreement was formed, the city contended that 12-8 cents per 1,000 gallons was a proper price to charge Oak Bay for water. Oak Bay held that the price should be in the neighborhood of 2 1/2 or 3 cents per 1,000 gallons. The Water Board ruled a price of 7 1/2 cents and this holds up to December 31 of this year.

In the meantime, it is explained, city consumption has materially increased in some of the nearby districts.

VANCOUVER TO RAISE $2,500,000 FOR NEW BRIDGE

Mayor Says Ottawa, B.C. and C.P.R. Will Contribute Total of $700,000

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—A contribution of $250,000 will be made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company towards the cost of constructing the Burrard Street Bridge here, according to advice received by Mayor W. H. Malkin from J. E. McMullen, company counsel in Vancouver.

The Mayor says the Federal Government also is expected to contribute $250,000. These combined contributions, with $200,000 from the Provincial Government, would mean Vancouver ratepayers would be relieved of $700,000 of the bridge cost.

On this basis, it is estimated by the Mayor, the ratepayer will be called on to provide only about $2,500,000 for the bridge, exclusive of land damage compensation.

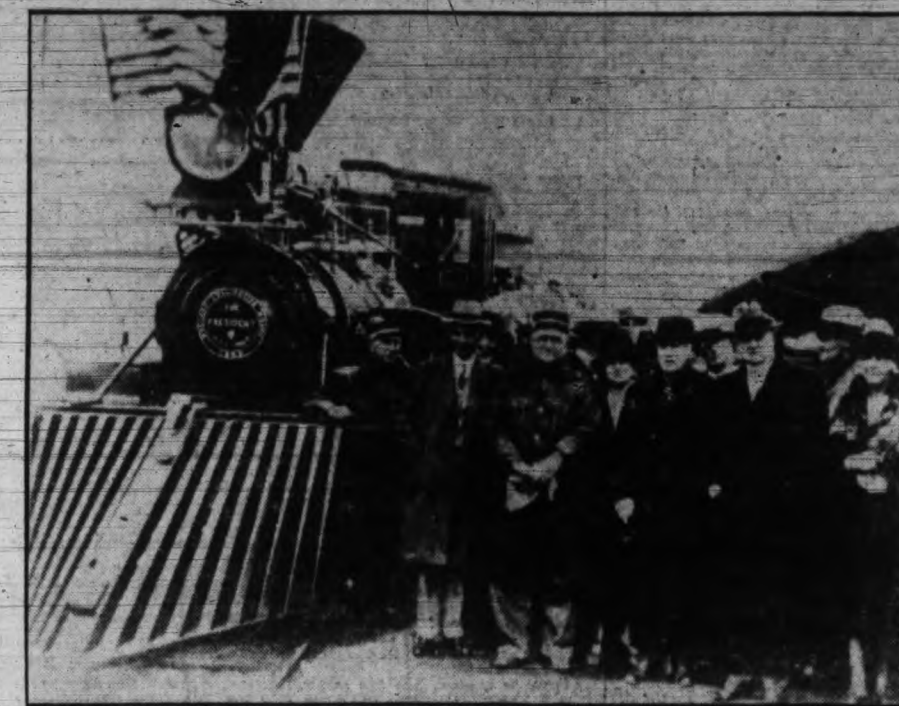

As no advice has been received of the Federal Government's intentions, the Mayor yesterday afternoon telegraphed to B. S. McKen, who represented shipping interests on the civic delegation to Ottawa, asking him to ascertain when the Cabinet's announcement would be made.

PACIFIC AND ATLANTIC DIRIGIBLE LINKS PLANNED

New York, Oct. 23.—Incorporation of the Pacific Zeppelin Transport Company to develop a thirty-six-hour airship service between the California coast and Hawaii is announced.

The filing of the papers yesterday marked the second airship corporation organized within a week under a Delaware charter. The first, the International Zeppelin Transport Corporation, for which papers were taken out last Friday, plans a transatlantic service.

Great Values In Stocks Wiped Out With Break On New York Exchange

New York, Oct. 23.—Early estimates indicated that between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 in quoted values had been swept away in the big flurry of selling on the New York Stock Exchange today.

New York, Oct. 23.—Amid wild confusion stock prices plunged into another drastic decline late in the session of today's market here. The ticker fell more than half an hour behind the market and leaders were frightened into panic selling when word reached brokerage offices that prices on the floor of the Stock Exchange were several dollars below the quotations being printed on the ticker tape.

United States Steel common was reported near the close of the market to be selling at $30.10 on the floor of the exchange, which was about $11 below yesterday's close and more than $4 below the bottom level of Monday when prices were hurled down in a frenzied turnover of 6,000,000 shares. The late break in prices came with breath-taking swiftness and was unaccountable on the basis of anything in the day's business or industrial news. Scores of leading stocks sold off $5 to $20 a share, while a few volatile issues tumbled $30 to $50.

$250,000 BUILDING AT OAK BAY

De Luxe Apartment Hotel to Be Erected By Seattle Investor

Buy Property Opposite Present Hotel; F. M. Rattenbury Drafting Plans

A big, modern apartment hotel is to be built overlooking Oak Bay Beach, as a result of the deal concluded by Stewart Clark, head of the real estate department of Branson, Brown and Co., as the representative of a Seattle investor.

The property to be covered by the new apartment hotel is the flatiron triangle facing the present Oak Bay Hotel. The property has a frontage of 325 feet on Marine Drive and 222 feet on Goodwin Street. It is three-quarters of an acre in size and overlooks the beach park.

The purchasers to-day said that the new building will be modelled after the Rattenbury Hotel in Seattle, which is one of the de luxe apartment hotels of the northwest.

QUARTER OF MILLION
The building is to be constructed under F. M. Rattenbury as architect and $250,000 has been appropriated for the construction. Rattenbury will be the most modern of any hotel or apartment in the northwest, representatives of the builders to-day said.

The property was acquired from the Rattenbury Trust Company as executors of the estate of the late John Virtue of the Oak Bay Hotel.

George S. Pearson, M.P.P. For Nanaimo, Heard By Saanich Liberals

Conservative Methods a Disgrace, He Declares; Questions of Labor

Attacking the Government on its failure to keep pre-election promises and analyzing the labor problems facing Canada to-day, George S. Pearson, M.P.P. for Nanaimo, addressed the annual meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association in Marigold Hall last night.

Mr. Pearson's talk was received with great warmth by the gathering. He directly challenged the Government on questions of patronage and expenditure and scored the methods by which it was dishing up "sugar-coated pills of taxation."

At the conclusion of his talk he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. Speakers in support of the motion expressed definite opinion that the Conservative administration would be out of power at the next Provincial election.

CAMPAIGN IN ONTARIO ENTERS ITS LAST STAGE

Toronto, Oct. 23.—One week from today the voters of Ontario will decide the fate of the Conservative Party headed by Premier Ferguson. Political activity has been increasing from one end of the province to the other and the leaders face crowded programmes daily until the end of the campaign.

The financial record of the Conservative Government was criticized last night by W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader, who visited K.C. Perth, the constituency represented in the last Legislature by Hon. Joseph D. Monteth, Provincial Treasurer. He spoke in support of George Gray, Liberal, who is opposing Mr. Monteth in this contest.

Mr. Sinclair said the cost of governing the province had risen from $6,000,000 in 1905, when the Liberals were in power, to $58,000,000, and that in the same period the provincial debt had risen from "practically" nothing to $400,000,000. No one would suggest expenditures should be the same now as in 1905, he said, but the rapidity at which expenditures and the debt were increasing would indicate "something was wrong."

TWENTY-FIVE B.C. LOTS SOLD IN VANCOUVER

Province Receives Prices Above the Usual Figures For Land Areas

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—Prices well over upset figure in each case were obtained for twenty-five Vancouver lots by auction this morning by the Provincial Department of Lands. In all 103 lots were listed for sale, but at the request of the city authorities fifty-two lots in the Hastings Township which may be required for the projected Capital Hill scenic highway, were withheld.

Most of the property disposed of was situated in the University of British Columbia area and in West Point Grey. The twenty-six lots sold were also in the University and West Point Grey districts, but were considered to be in less choice locations. One lot in the University area brought a total of $20,000.

Approximately 150 people attended the sale.

Kingsdown, Kent, Eng., Oct. 23.—More than a thousand persons, including motorists from far and near, spent last night in Fawkham Woods, hunting a ghost with "glowing eyes," reported to have been seen by local inhabitants. The searchers carried guns, sticks, tennis rackets, cricket bats and staves, to say nothing of banjos, ukuleles and other musical instruments. A police squad also appeared in a motor coach. The species did not appear.

DAVID RAMSAY REMAINS LIBERAL HEAD IN SAANICH

All Officers Re-elected as Result of Fine Work During Last Year

Tribute Paid to Leadership of T. D. Pattullo; Everyone Optimistic

Re-election by acclamation of the full list of officers, headed by David Ramsay as president, featured the annual meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association in Marlford Hall last night.

The full slate of officers follows: Honorary presidents: Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and T. D. Pattullo; honorary vice-presidents: C. H. O'Halloran and N. W. Whittaker; president: David Ramsay; vice-president, Mrs. J. M. Beckett; secretary-treasurer, H. E. Hill; secretary, F. Simpson; and N. McQuillan.

Opening the meeting, Mr. Ramsay, the chairman, explained that the constitution of the organization had been changed at the last session to provide for the annual meeting in October instead of March. It was therefore an extra annual meeting to fall in line with the new constitutional policy.

After adoption of the minutes, Mr. Ramsay introduced those on the platform as follows: C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate in Nanaimo Federal riding; George A. Pearson, M.P. for Nanaimo; George S. Bonner, President of the Esquimalt Liberal Association; Major S. Moodie, Provincial Liberal organizer; W. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association; and Norman W. Whittaker, Saanich Liberal candidate.

In making his presidential report, Mr. Ramsay referred to the fact that the summer vacation had intervened since the last meeting and that a somewhat lengthy political vacation had been taken by the Saanich association.

NOMINATION OF CANDIDATE

He made special reference, however, to the nominating convention of the Nanaimo Federal riding at which C. H. O'Halloran was chosen as candidate. It was the duty of the Saanich Liberals to support thoroughly this unanimous choice of the Liberals of the riding. They should become conversant with Federal issues and be ready to put him into office at the next election.

TRIBUTE TO T. D. PATTULLO

Turning to Provincial matters, Mr. Ramsay referred to T. D. Pattullo as a leader in whom the party could have explicit confidence.

Mr. Ramsay expressed the hope that the association would be able to hear Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King during his visit here next month.

Mr. Ramsay discussed Federal matters at some length. Conservative leaders were going about the country preaching protection and held the United States up as an example. However, the trend of the times in the United States needed studying to give full consideration of this question.

The United States had come to an impasse on the question of protective tariff, Mr. Ramsay said, mentioning the failure of the special Congress session to legislate on the farm relief question. It seems that protection is at an end in the United States, he said.

CHANGE OF THOUGHT

This change of thought with regard to tariff was indicated in several leading journals, he added.

A serious labor problem was being caused from high tariff methods, he continued, quoting an article from a leading Canadian newspaper, showing that several factories had been moved bodily from the United States to Europe to overcome the tariff wall.

In conclusion, Mr. Ramsay appealed to all who were of a forward viewpoint in Saanich to join the Liberal Association. He believed that with a strong membership and efficient organization, the Liberal Association could benefit the district more than any other organization.

H. E. Hill, secretary-treasurer, reported a favorable credit balance.

Mrs. Holmes rendered a vocal solo as an interlude to the business meeting.

Refreshments were served at the close of the gathering.

DR. WALKER'S VIEWS

To the Editor:—A short time ago the municipality of North Vancouver sent a resolution to all municipalities in B.C. regarding vaccination for smallpox, the matter being scheduled for discussion at a prospective meeting of the Union of Municipalities. The resolution required greater freedom for unvaccinated children who, it was thought, should not be compelled to lose their education because their parents objected to the operation.

However, it was argued that the vaccinated child, if protected, had nothing to fear from the unvaccinated child.

Dr. W. P. Walker, as M.H.O. for Oak Bay, addressed a letter to the municipality of North Vancouver on this subject. May I commend his remarks.

Paragraph one of the letter says (in part): "It would appear that an effort is to be made to tow the same red herring in two different streams, one a placid water in which no smallpox shark is lurking and the other a turbulent infected river."

I confess that the meaning of this involved phraseology is beyond my comprehension.

Paragraph three says: "The regulations in the case of smallpox require the school authorities to prevent the attendance of unvaccinated children at a school where smallpox exists. It is true that this may be construed as an attempt at the coercion of parents, but in reality it is no more than a stimulant prompting them to take an interest in the subject of vaccination, and often to inform themselves as to its value, and realize that the alleged dangers are no due to vaccination of itself."

This makes one suspicious that danger does lurk in vaccination, but if not due to vaccination of itself, what, then, is it due to?

Dr. Walker continues: "Temporary expulsion from a school in which smallpox is prevalent is an effort to thinking that contagion is 'contagion,' those children whose parents are not genuinely conscientious objectors."

One may surely be excused for thinking that contagion is "contagion," no matter whether the children are owned by conscientious objectors or not. Here we have a plain, if unintentional, admission that the children of objectors are penalized when possible.

How does Dr. Walker, or any other person in the position of M.H.O., know whether the parents are "conscientious" about the matter, or not? Have known parents so extremely conscientious on the subject that they have been willing to suffer fine or imprisonment for conscience sake.

Paragraph four of the doctor's letter is very entertaining. He says: "It really is very few people who possess any knowledge whatever of smallpox or vaccination." This is entirely correct. Very few doctors of the day have seen smallpox. It is practically extinct under proper sanitary conditions. "Those who write most and talk loudest on the subject are the deluded disciples of fanatical humbugs, who write unreliable statistics and support them with the opinions of lettered nonentities."

What an unfortunate admission! It is true that Jenner and Pasteur were fanatical humbugs who wrote and talked loudly. Does Dr. Walker imply that he is their disciple?

"It is inevitable," he continues, "that some should be temporarily and others permanently blinded by views that are painted in lurid colors."

Those who were temporarily blinded are, however, owing up to the fact that they were deluded, and many medical men are conscientiously renouncing their faith in a superstitious rite. As an example we may quote the doctors in Holland who have recently, and successfully, worked to get vaccination suspended by law, owing to its dangerous effects.

Dr. Walker says: "Good work cannot be done by children who are apprehensive." Of course it can't! Then why so much energy in creating fear. "Imagination frames events unknown . . . and what it fears creates." Parents and children under the present system are being perpetually worried about all sorts of possible, improbable and imaginary dangers. Fresh air, good water and good sanitation will eliminate the dangers, and fear will have no cause for existence.

The remainder of Dr. Walker's letter deals with such ambiguous questions as "successful vaccination" and "varying periods of immunity," and the whole letter resolves itself (to quote himself) into "an illogical conglomerate of words." We understand that the provincial health officer thought so highly of Dr. Walker's letter and its arguments that he had it sent to all the British Columbia municipalities—at the ratepayers' expense, of course!

The first whole wheat cereal ever irradiated with Ultra-Violet Rays

Muffets given the teeth and bone-building health effect of sunlight . . . new discovery

THE health secret of sunshine! How much is being printed about it nowadays. Physicians find in the "sun vitamin" one of the most valuable aids to health.

Now science has found the way to impart the "sunshine vitamin" "D" to Muffets, the whole wheat biscuit, by exposing it to the rays of the Ultra-Violet lamps. This process is known as irradiation—discovered by Prof. Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin.

Muffets . . . an entirely different idea in cereals. A "ribbon" of cooked whole wheat rolled up and toasted. Ready to eat with sugar and cream, with berries or fruit added . . . or just buttered. Um-m-mm. What a meal!

The "sun vitamin" in Muffets enables the body to build sound, hard teeth; strong, straight bones. Children need Vitamin "D" in abundance to develop properly. Adults, likewise, enjoy better health when they secure an abundance of "sunshine". The lowered vitality you feel during fall and winter months is due in part, say authorities, to "sunshine starvation."

So hard is it to get sufficient sunshine that health authorities have long sought for new, easy sources. Now—in irradiated Muffets—such a source has been found. Irradiation does not change the taste or appearance of Muffets in the least. It simply adds a new health factor which no other whole wheat cereal can claim—and at no increase in price.

Get your quota of sunshine all year round. Eat irradiated Muffets for your own health. Serve it to the young folk. Your grocer can supply you.

No tonic like sunshine! And now the "sun vitamin" is in a breakfast food.

COASTGUARDS TAKE THIRTEEN ASHORE AS VESSEL POUNDS

DOORS WASHED ASHORE

Doors, ladders and other woodwork from the Nesmen had been washed ashore this morning and the situation was regarded by local seamen as rapidly assuming alarming proportions when the rescue was effected.

SHIP AGROUND IDENTIFIED

Leamington, Ont., Oct. 23.—The vessel believed to be a coal freighter aground on Point Pelee, in Lake Erie, was identified this morning as the M. J. Neesen. When the ship drifted to within 100 yards of the shore the name of the bow became visible to watchers.

Six members of the crew, all wearing lifebelts, could be seen on the decks.

During the night the Nesmen, which stranded during a great gale which lashed Lake Erie, was within 200 yards from shore and with a moderating wind drifted another hundred yards toward land. The waves this morning still were high and the steamer was in danger of breaking up.

WOMAN LOSES LIFE

Detroit, Oct. 23.—The first fatality in the Great Lakes storm was reported to-day. Mrs. Frances Bryan, forty-three, housekeeper on a boat house used as a boat livery 1,000 feet from shore at New Baltimore, on Lake St. Clair, lost her life in the collapse of the structure.

STORM MOVES EASTWARD

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The worst Great Lakes storm of the year—a storm which drove high waves against the Wisconsin-Illinois-Indiana shoreline of Lake Michigan, swept eastward to-day, cold, raw and snow-choked.

In Chicago it left crumpled sea walls, flooded basements, water-filled basements, in Gary, Ind., homes deserted by families fleeing the menacing sea; in Michigan City, Ind., a $300,000 property damage; along the Wisconsin shore, crippled traffic and property losses, while on Lakes Superior, Huron and Erie shipping fought the anger of the waters.

STEAMER AGROUND

The steamer Maple Court of the Canada Steamship Lines was aground on Magnetic Reef in Lake Huron.

Air mail service was halted and land and lake transportation was seriously crippled.

A barge that broke away from its tug sank in Lake Michigan and its crew of two were saved after being adrift for hours. Small boats moored in the comparative safety of harbors were driven ashore.

Search Is Made For Missing Tug On Lake Superior

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 23.—A report from "Grand Marais" at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon said the barge Lake Frugality of the Ford Motor Company had blown off the rocks near Point au Sable and that the United States coastguard tug Seminole was towing it to an unnamed port. It carries a crew of six.

The report said the tug Barralton, which was towing the Lake Frugality when it broke loose in the gale, on Lake Superior last night could not be located this morning and fear was expressed for its safety.

sales reached 6,968,300 shares, surpassing Monday's turnover of 6,001,800 shares, and the largest single-day's volume of trading since the record day of March 26, when more than 8,000,000 shares were traded.

Among the high priced and rather inactive issues, Adams Express tumbled $96 a share, Auburn Auto $60 and J. I. Case $42.

WIDE OPEN BREAK

The market had shown rally tendencies in the forenoon, but severe bear pressure found out vulnerable spots in some of the less important issues in the early afternoon, when it developed into a wide open break in practically all leading shares.

The decline was in the face of reassuring statements regarding financial and business conditions by such leading bankers and economists as Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, and Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University. Business news was for the most part favorable.

TICKER TAP

The ticker tape was about three-quarters of an hour late when closing gong sounded at 3 o'clock, but prices from the floor of the exchange showed U.S. steel common level to close at $204, off $3.12; Westinghouse Electric closed at $110, off $25; Radio at $69.50, off $11.75; General Motors at $57.97, off $11.75; General Electric at $214, off $20; Consolidated Gas at $130, off $11.12; American Can at $134.50, off $6.75; American Telephone at $272, off $15; Columbia Gas at $97.75, off $9.75; Bethlehem Steel at $101.25, off $6; Kennecott $97, off $11.12; Amoco $102, off $6.25; New York Central $310.12, off $7.87; Standard Oil of New Jersey $73.50, off $4.37.

CITY WATER AGREEMENT TO EXPIRE

trials, due to the growth of these areas, and this would have the effect of reducing the price, if the ruling of the Provincial Water Board is followed.

Sales to Oak Bay and Saanich are regarded by the city as bulk sales on a wholesale basis, and the price charged does not bear directly on the price charged to city users, except in so far as the bulk sales affect revenues in the operation of the city water department. Approximately 10 cents per 1,000 gallons is the price charged city users, while neighboring municipalities are under agreement to maintain an equivalent level on their resale.

The present city agreement with Saanich calls for a maximum rate of 7.5 cents per 1,000 gallons on the bulk sale plan, with a sliding scale for greater consumption, down to 5 cents per 1,000 gallons. Saanich, under present conditions, has the benefit of a lower price because delivery is taken at a point closer to conservation, and for other general reasons.

While no definite statement has been made in open council on the subject, the city is moving towards the drafting of a fresh set of agreements. An announcement on the city's stand on the question is expected to be made shortly by the mayor and council.

GOVERNMENT PATRONAGE ATTACKED

IDEALISM IN POLITICS

Mr. Pearson opened his address with a short discussion of idealism in politics. Having been in active politics for a short time, he still retained the thought that there should be such a thing, although he had often been scoffed at by political opponents for his idea, he said.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "it might be amazing what could be accomplished by a political party embracing the stamp of idealism."

The Liberal Party, said Mr. Pearson, was founded on the ideals of democracy and this was what attracted its supporters. These ideals had become part of their daily life. Unfortunately, in both parties, there were many who gave their support merely for what they could get out of it.

"This is even more true when a party is in office and our Conservative friends are finding it out at the present time," he added.

ELECTION AS CRITERION

Too much attention was paid to organization nowadays by political parties, Mr. Pearson said. Election was their criterion and their policies were founded not upon the idea of what was best for the country, but what would sweep the country.

"Personally, I would like to be in Opposition for the coming eight years. If during this period the Liberal Party would give its time to impressing upon the people certain fundamental principles which would result in improvement of the social and economic status of the Province, we should well have earned our eighth year's rest."

Turning to the labor question, Mr. Pearson said the wealth of Canada today was accumulating into the hands of a few people.

SERIOUS PROBLEM

"We face great danger in this respect," he declared. "The most serious problem facing the country is not production of comforts and luxuries, but the masses, but their distribution so that production may be continued."

"The mass of our people are endeavoring their economic welfare trying to secure automobiles, radios, phonographs, etc., things which are really common luxuries and almost necessities. This condition should challenge the vision of any government."

Legislation was not needed to remedy this situation. There was too much law already and too little enforcement of the good laws, he said.

Legislative pressure was not necessary to force employers to see the duty to their employees.

Mr. Pearson then discussed several angles of Provincial politics. The opposition, he said, had an im-important duty to perform. It should criticize in a constructive way every piece of legislation brought before the House to make certain that nothing went on the statute books which should not be there.

"I think you will agree the opposition fulfilled this duty well at the last session," he remarked.

"Some say we are too critical—that we should give the Government a chance. Mr. Dickie himself has said so, and I say that this is positive evidence of their realization of their own weakness. We have no right to give them a chance. They misrepresented the position of the Liberal Party at the last election, declaring it was not giving economic government and to justify their position they should be of a much higher standard than the previous administration."

CONSERVATIVE PATRONAGE

"One policy of the administration in particular should be particularly obnoxious to the electorate. Mr. Pearson continued. "It is their policy to satisfy those who were most active in their election. A party which will go to the country with a plank in its platform of opposition to abolish patronage and then turn around with such actions as the present government has done, is a disgrace to the country."

Conservatives had decried expenditures of the previous Government, but they were now laying out a programme of expenditure undreamed of before, Mr. Pearson declared. They were having a wonderful time sugar-coating pills of taxation and it would be a great wonder if there were any reduction of taxation during the next four years.

The Conservative administration had shown a distinct apathy in matters of social legislation and had fought shy of the issue, he continued. It was imperative if these progressive reforms were to be secured, a sound public opinion should be built up, he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Pearson touched lightly upon Federal matters. The two big issues at the next election would be tariff and immigration, he said.

The tariff policies of the Mackenzie

King Government had been approached from the safest possible position and it was not hard to see in them great foresight and vision, he said.

Any gifted orator could put tariff matters before an ordinary audience in such a manner that one did not know whether he was coming or going. The Liberal party should make it a task before the election, to fully acquaint the electorate with the true tariff situation, he added.

MODERATOR OF UNITED CHURCH GIVES ADDRESS

Large Gathering Hears Dr. Gunn Give Educational Talk on Church Affairs

Rev. Mr. Netram, Native India Missionary, Also Heard in Stirring Address on India

A message of spiritual hope and goodwill was given to a large and representative gathering of United Church of Canada followers in the Metropolitan Church last evening by Rev. William T. Gunn, M.A., B.A., B.D., D.D., moderator of the general council of the United Church of Canada, who is in the city on his first official visit since being appointed head of the church's early this year.

Dr. Gunn told in opening his talk how glad he was to be in the west once again. His only regret was that his visit here was so short. He told some of his early history with the churches, and said how happy he felt that three of the greatest in Canada, the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational, have seen fit to unite. The first remembrance of church, he said, was listening to a Methodist service, his father having had a difficulty with the Presbyterian minister. The little difference being settled, the family returned to the Presbyterian church, and then when he went to the city, Dr. Gunn continued, he joined the Congregational Church.

DIFFERENCES ABOLISHED

In those days, the moderator said, the three churches were always looking for something to prove that each was right and that the other was wrong. Now, happily for all concerned, this was absolutely abolished, and there was hope that even the other denominations would also come into the union in time. There was no saying that the other fellow was wrong now. Even in his college days, when he was studying for the ministry, Dr. Gunn well remembers his professor telling the class and having them write it down, "and the Apostles went about founding Congregational Churches."

Dr. Gunn told some interesting experience of a recent visit he had made to Europe. In London, he said, he had been taken to Wesley's Chapel and was invited to step into that great preacher's pulpit. He felt unworthy to do such a thing, it seemed sacrilegious but after some urging and really wanting to do so, he climbed into the pulpit and knelt down and prayed to God that a little of that great man's spirit would enter into him and allow him to successfully accomplish his work in Canada. When in Scotland, Dr. Gunn said, he visited the home of John Knox, founder of the Presbyterian Church. He sat in that learned and saintly man's study and felt that with such founders the United Church could be truly proud of its inheritance.

ONE HAPPY FAMILY

The differences of the church were no longer important differences, Dr. Gunn said. There were no more Methodist, Presbyterian or Congregational differences, although, of course, they still existed. They were now United Church differences, and each member had the other's welfare at heart. The union of the churches had welded the members of each together until now they are as one happy family.

Dr. Gunn told of the missionary work of the United Church of Canada. From the Atlantic Coast and Labrador, across Canada to the isolated points along the British Columbia coast, across the sea to China and Japan, Korea, Manchuria, India, Africa and the Indies the missionary work of the United Church stretched. Like the British Empire, the United Church missions never have the sun set upon them. The gospel of God and neighborly love is now being taught in thirty-eight languages all over the world. There are now ninety hospitals and 700 schools and colleges all over the world for the members of the United Church, and any others who might be in need of help and assistance. It was a wonderful work, Dr. Gunn said, and the people all over the world were to be congratulated upon accomplishing such great things.

TALK ON INDIA

India, a land of beauty and wonder, of teeming millions and devastating poverty, of brains and culture, of racial and political difference, was vividly portrayed by Rev. J. W. B. Netram of Indore, India, following the address given by Dr. Gunn. Mr. Netram presented a graphic picture of the great land of his birth and gave much information regarding present conditions in India.

India, he said, is called a country. It is more than a country, it is a continent. It has a population of 320,000,000, or one-fifth of the human race. The population is treble that of the United States, and double that of North and South America combined. There are as many children in India as there are adults and children in the British Isles, Dr. Netram said. India is as big as Europe, without Russia.

"India," said Dr. Netram, "is a five-fold bondage, economic, social, mental, political and spiritual." Although India is rich in mineral wealth, practically every mineral being found in the country, yet there is great poverty among the people. The average income is about $1 per month per person. As a result there is dire poverty and death among millions.

Advantages to country. Canada needed to export thirty per cent of her production, Mr. O'Halloran said. What would it mean if this trade were cut off? he asked. Would it not mean that there would be thirty per cent less employment in Canada, thirty per cent less in wages, thirty per cent less in savings bank deposits and thirty per cent less opportunity to gain the necessities of life?

George S. Bonner, of Cobble Hill, president of the Esquimalt District Liberal Association, spoke for a few minutes, bringing the greetings of his association.

W. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, extended promise of co-operation from his body.

N. W. Whitaker was greeted with loud applause when he rose to his feet to wish the association continued success.

Major S. Modie, provincial organizer of the Liberal party, congratulated the officers of the association upon their re-election and extended greetings from T. D. Patullo, Liberal leader.

The Liberal party in British Columbia had not been badly defeated at the last provincial election, he said. Although the Conservative party had a large majority in the house, they represented only a bare majority of the

DRIES UP PILES

"Sotha-Salva" is the name. It is the prescription of a famous physician, which has been tested in thousands of cases of itching, burning, bleeding and protruding piles. It gives results quickly. every year. Mothers are forced to give their children opium so that they can go out to work. As a result, Dr. Netram said, thousands grow up with the opium smoking habit. Making that dread disease of the tropics, annually claims 400,000 lives because the country lacks facilities to fight against it. In the cities of India, Mr. Netram said, sixty-six per cent of the children form the opium habit, while in the country eighty per cent are drug addicts before reaching maturity. The conditions are appalling.

But there hope for India, Dr. Netram continued. The country, he believes, is fast approaching self-government, and when this comes the life of the country will be changed. Although the British Government has done for India, yet Mr. Netram declares that nothing can take the place of self-government for the good and welfare of a country.

SUPERSTITION

Dealing with the mental bondage of his people, Dr. Netram said that ninety per cent of the people are unable to read or write. This leads to superstition. More than 200 languages are spoken throughout India, misunderstanding and jealousy being the result of such a condition.

Dr. W. J. Sippell was chairman at last evening's meeting and introduced the speakers.

FOREIGN TRADE OF CANADA IS GREAT FACTOR

Development Means Prosperity and Progress, Says C. H. O'Halloran

Lauds Appointment of Ministers and Trade Envoys By Liberal Government

Canada's foreign trade, developed under Liberal administration, and its part in the increasing prosperity of the Dominion, formed the subject of a short but illuminating address by C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo Federal riding, at the annual meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association in Margold Hall last night.

Mr. O'Halloran was introduced as a man who did not lack "courage, energy, ability and the whole-hearted support of the Liberals of Saanich."

He congratulated David Ramsay upon his re-election as president of the association and also paid tribute to George S. Bonner, M.P., as one of the outstanding Liberals on the Island.

In his address Mr. O'Halloran outlined the efficient work of the Liberal administration which, he said, was reducing taxation, reducing debt and increasing revenues. This seemingly impossible accomplishment was being done by the development of foreign trade, he declared.

IMPORTANT FACTORS

Establishment of trade ministers in various parts of the globe had been a great factor in developing this foreign trade, Mr. O'Halloran explained. Appointment of Canadian ministers to the United States, France and Japan had also been important moves toward progress in this direction.

The speaker went on to discuss the development of inter-empire trade, for which, he said, the Liberal party of Canada had stood strongly since the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There could be no better means for the consolidation of the Empire than by interchange of trade between its component parts.

INTER-EMPIRE TRADE

"The Conservative party, as a whole, and its platform, has never stood for the development of trade relations within the Empire. And I say, that in this fact, they have not stood for the welding together of the component parts of the Empire," he said.

The Liberal party, through its trade agreements, had not only developed this inter-empire trade, but had also added trade with other countries, France and Italy included.

The Australian treaty which worked to such advantage for Canada and British Columbia in particular, had been opposed by C. H. Dickie and Dr. Toimie from every shore house in the Nanaimo riding, he declared. At the present time, when Australia was seeking to amend this treaty more in her own favor, they had nothing to say in opposition to it.

ADVANTAGES TO COUNTRY

Canada needed to export thirty per cent of her production, Mr. O'Halloran said. What would it mean if this trade were cut off? he asked. Would it not mean that there would be thirty per cent less employment in Canada, thirty per cent less in wages, thirty per cent less in savings bank deposits and thirty per cent less opportunity to gain the necessities of life?

OTHER SPEAKERS

George S. Bonner, of Cobble Hill, president of the Esquimalt District Liberal Association, spoke for a few minutes, bringing the greetings of his association.

W. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, extended promise of co-operation from his body.

N. W. Whitaker was greeted with loud applause when he rose to his feet to wish the association continued success.

Major S. Modie, provincial organizer of the Liberal party, congratulated the officers of the association upon their re-election and extended greetings from T. D. Patullo, Liberal leader.

The Liberal party in British Columbia had not been badly defeated at the last provincial election, he said. Although the Conservative party had a large majority in the house, they represented only a bare majority of the

WOMEN CURIOUS ON INSPECTION OF RESTAURANTS

Institute Members Put Questions to Dr. H. E. Young

Oriental Declared to Be Cleanly in Person and in Their Homes

Questions as to the inspection of bakeries and restaurants in Victoria, and the medical inspection of Orientals, were put to Dr. H. E. Young, provincial secretary of health, following his address before the Women's Institute conference yesterday afternoon.

INSPECTION OF FOOD HANDLERS
Mrs. Henderson Laurie of Saanich, referring to the danger of typhoid carriers, asked for more rigid inspection of those handling food. Dr. Young replied that inspection was made as far as possible, but there was no effective way of controlling these typhoid carriers, as there was no law to govern such cases.

Mrs. Booth asked Dr. Young if he was satisfied with the inspection of bakeries and restaurants in Victoria? He replied that this did not come under his department, but he understood that Dr. Felton, the city health inspector, was endeavoring to see that this was done systematically and thoroughly.

CLEANLY ORIENTALS
"It may not be a palatable truth, but the fact remains that Orientals are far away ahead of us in personal cleanliness and in observation of the health regulations," said Dr. Young, in answer to questions as to medical inspection of Orientals.

In reply to a question from Mrs. Frank Campbell as to the health facilities in the outposts of the province among the new settlers, Dr. Young replied that Col. Biggar, head of the Red Cross, was coming here this week to arrange for the establishment of several outpost Red Cross units. Public health nurses were also being sent wherever possible to these isolated communities by the government.

MEASURE OF T.B.
The gravity of tuberculosis and the need for preventive measures in dealing with it were emphasized by Dr. Young. He told the gathering of the importance of this connection being carried out by public health nurses, and the co-operation between his department and the Indian Department, many cases being found among the native population.

Sanitation, water supply, the supervision of mining and lumber camps, all were touched upon by Dr. Young. Preventive measures in connection with preventive diseases had not retarded the extension of laboratory work in the province, said Dr. Young. He spoke of the precautions taken to trace possible "carriers" in typhoid cases, and reviewed the symptoms of this disease, showing how the laboratory helped in its prevention.

VENEREAL DISEASE, particularly syphilis, were also being combated through the help of the department. In Escondido alone there are to-day 250 children, all cases of congenital syphilis.

MODERN EVILS
"The modern motor, modern dress and no segregation of sex are all responsible for the lack of self-control which leads to the spread of these dreadful diseases," noted the speaker. He spoke of the work being done in the clinics, stating that 200 cases were being dealt with monthly. He appealed to the women to educate the young people to the need of self-control.

The economic phase of the liquor evil had been the greatest impetus to prohibition, Dr. Young observed. Big business had been discovered when a man was befuddled with drink he was inefficient, with the result that sobriety had become an essential to progress. It was especially recognized that physical fitness was essential to efficient work, and so many big concerns had instituted medical examinations of their employees to conserve their health and their efficiency.

C.N.R. STANDARDS
Dr. Young read a letter from Sir Henry Thornton stating that much of the success of the Canadian National Railways was due to the efficiency of its man-power throughout the service, the health of its employees being maintained through periodical medical examinations and the establishment of clinics for the treatment of physical disability.

The benefits derived in Saanich through the establishment of the health centre were detailed to the meeting. Dr. Young also told the institute that Miss Kerr of the public health nursing department of the University of British Columbia would be available to give addresses to the institutes, the Provincial Department of Health gladly paying the expenses entailed.

Miss Scoones, of Suffolk, England, told something of the work of her institute and of the group conferences. She described a health exhibit arranged by the institute, and also spoke of the method employed in arranging the annual programme.

At the reception Miss Ethel Parsons sang "Bridal Dawn." Autumn flowers were used to decorate the home.

Following the marriage service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where a large number of guests assembled to offer their congratulations, and here Mrs. Hedley, dressed in black hat, and Mrs. Hudson, in brown and fawn crepe with hat to match, assisted in receiving the guests.

WEDDING HELD AT TABERNACLE

Miss Jennie Hedley and Mr. George Hudson United in Marriage Last Evening

The Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, Yates Street, formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Jennie Hedley, 1043 Richardson Street, and the late Mr. Hedley, and Mr. George Hudson, son of the late Mr. Hudson, 220 Government Street, last evening.

A procession of chrysanthemums, dahlias and autumn leaves were used to decorate the hall, all being the handiwork of Miss Eva Middleton.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Hedley, she wore a pretty picture in her wedding gown of white celanese flat crepe, fashioned with long waist and flaring skirt with a rhinestone buckle on the one side at the waistline was the only ornament on the dress. She wore a hand-made lace veil, a family heirloom, which had also been worn by her mother on her wedding day.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. John Hedley, who carried her down the aisle. She wore a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and greenery.

Miss Eva Middleton was bridesmaid and wore a frock of coral pink flat crepe trimmed with coral lace and brilliant buckles. Her bouquet was a sheaf of pink carnations and mauve chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Joy Hedley, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in a pretty frock of mauve georgette and cream lace. From a basket filled with rose petals, she scattered the fragrant leaves in the path of the bride.

Mr. Cecil Davies, cousin of the bride, supported the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Bert Yeoman and Albert Sabiston.

Mrs. E. C. Wilderstein presided at the organ and played the wedding marches on the arrival and departure of the wedding party and during the signing of the register. Miss O'Brien sang "My Prayer."

Following the marriage service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where a large number of guests assembled to offer their congratulations, and here Mrs. Hedley, dressed in black hat, and Mrs. Hudson, in brown and fawn crepe with hat to match, assisted in receiving the guests.

At the reception Miss Ethel Parsons sang "Bridal Dawn." Autumn flowers were used to decorate the home.

The many friends of Mr. Patrick Foley will regret to learn that he has been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital since Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Davey, of Vancouver, have returned to their home on the mainland after a short visit in Victoria.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie have, as their guests at Government House Col. and Lady Constance Fawkes of Mayne Island, who are in Victoria to attend the exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Society.

Mrs. Lionel Boyle, of London, England, who has been spending the last six weeks in Victoria as the guest of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Pulteney, Burdette Avenue, left this afternoon for Vancouver, en route to Bermuda. Mrs. Boyle was accompanied to Vancouver by Mrs. Pulteney and with her will spend a few days there as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gresham.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Sterry, St. Patrick Street, entertained at a dinner party last night in honor of their guest, Miss Ethel Rhodes, of Seattle, who is spending a few days with them. Dahlias and Michaelmas daisies were used in the decorations of the house and table.

The guests were: Major and Mrs. A. H. Lukes, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Collison, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harvey, and Captain H. B. Moss.

Dr. J. S. Plackett of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory left yesterday afternoon for Toronto, where he will address the Canadian Club, preceding thence to Cambridge, Mass., to speak at Harvard University, where his son, Dr. H. J. Plackett is a lecturer. He will also lecture at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and at Yale University, and will visit the Albany Observatory and the observatory at Pasadena, Cal., before returning to Victoria.

The marriage took place on Saturday at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. M. Thomas, 234 Fort Street, third Avenue, Vancouver, of Miss Beattie Thomas and Mr. James L. Tibbals, son of the late Mr. Tibbals, and Mrs. M. A. Tibbals, North Park Street, Victoria. Rev. S. P. Smith officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Eleanor Beaton, and Mr. Daniel Beaton supported the groom. The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in Victoria and will make their home in Vancouver.

Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, president, and the executive of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon following the meeting, entertained the retiring club executive and the members of the day, Dr. Netram, of India; the soloists, Mrs. C. M. Pot, Dr. Unsworth, Mrs. Scurrah and Miss Agnew poured tea, and the retiring officers who were present were: Mrs. Peter McNaughton, Miss Agnew, Mrs. E. C. Hart, Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Mrs. R. W. Perry. Additional guests were Mrs. John Kyle, Mrs. R. T. Elliott and Mrs. O. Brown. The retiring president, Mrs. C. G. Spofford, was unable to be present owing to recent illness.

The marriage took place quite recently at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. P. I. Stephenson, Goldsmith Avenue, Oak Bay, of Lillian Mary Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Capt. and Mrs. E. B. Underwood, Esquimalt Road, to Mr. Arthur Emerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Songhurst, Fernwood Road. The bride and groom were attended by Mrs. Rosemary Bell, Ronald Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Songhurst, who lived at Coral Court, Simcoe Street. Among the gifts received was an electric waffle iron from the bride's associates in the Froxy department of David Spencer Limited, and the groom was presented with a case of silver by his associates at H. A. Davis Limited.

Mrs. A. E. Hodges has kindly consented to act as convenor for the tea-room during the exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Society at the Belmont Building. The tea hostess yesterday was Mrs. Banfield, assisted by Miss Janet Lang, Mrs. Leader, Miss Homer Dixon, Miss Doris Gibson, and Miss Helen Stratfield.

HOPES TO SEE ART GALLERY IN THIS CITY SOON

Lieut.-Governor R. Randolph Bruce Expresses Pleasure at Work Shown

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in his address preceding the opening of the Island Arts and Crafts Society exhibition yesterday afternoon in the Belmont Building, voiced his regret that there was no permanent location for the members to hold their exhibits, and expressed the hope that the day was not far distant when an art gallery, worthy of the city of Victoria and its artists would be established. His Honor stated it had been his privilege to attend several annual exhibitions of the society, and each one had grown greater in importance in point of the exhibits and the attendance, which was a cause of gratification.

"Let me congratulate you on all the services you are carrying on," he said. "Your encouragement of the cottage industry is a noteworthy example of your good work. The examples of embroidery, hooked-work and pottery, I am sure everybody will be pleased to see, and not the least either is your interest in the making of woolen articles. You are contributing much that is good to industry in exhibiting yarns and garments made from British Columbia wool."

His Honor was introduced at the opening of the exhibition by T. S. Gore, president of the society. His Honor, Miss Mackenzie and guests visited the various rooms where the paintings and crafts were on view, and the convenor of each section escorted them, explaining the nature of the exhibits.

Included in the party were: His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Miss Mackenzie, Major Selden Humphries, Col. L. G. Fawkes and Lady Fawkes, Hon. S. F. Tolmie and Mrs. Tolmie, Mayor Anson, and Mrs. Anson, John Radford of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Gore, Mr. Bamford, vice-president of the society, Mrs. W. F. Loveland, Leticia, convenor of water colors; Mrs. C. Lathan, convenor of crafts; Mrs. W. B. Pound, general convenor of the exhibition; Mrs. Rose Willis and Mrs. N. Drummond, convenors of pastels and black and white drawings section; Mrs. C. M. Pot, of selection committee; Mrs. M. Gruta, of craft section, and D. S. Cameron, R. Sweeney, Arthur Cheekley, Mrs. L. Hanna, Mrs. S. P. Hanna, of the committee, and the secretary, J. S. McMillan.

A varied programme was rendered. P. Irving gave two songs, "There is a Love Embracing All" and "In the Garden." Miss Moore gave pianoforte solos and several songs. Mrs. Dearborn was heard in a selection of recitations.

Refreshments were served.

HONORED ON GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Rev. C. M. Tate and Mrs. Tate were honored on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, Monday evening, when a number of their friends assembled at the British Association rooms, Bastion Street, and presented them with an illuminated address and an electric lamp shade, for which Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tate expressed their sincere appreciation.

A varied programme was rendered.

P. Irving gave two songs, "There is a Love Embracing All" and "In the Garden." Miss Moore gave pianoforte solos and several songs. Mrs. Dearborn was heard in a selection of recitations.

Tate and Mrs. Tate were honored on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, Monday evening, when a number of their friends assembled at the British Association rooms, Bastion Street, and presented them with an illuminated address and an electric lamp shade, for which Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tate expressed their sincere appreciation.

A varied programme was rendered. P. Irving gave two songs, "There is a Love Embracing All" and "In the Garden." Miss Moore gave pianoforte solos and several songs. Mrs. Dearborn was heard in a selection of recitations.

Refreshments were served.

WEDDING HELD AT TABERNACLE

Miss Jennie Hedley and Mr. George Hudson United in Marriage Last Evening

The Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, Yates Street, formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Jennie Hedley, 1043 Richardson Street, and the late Mr. Hedley, and Mr. George Hudson, son of the late Mr. Hudson, 220 Government Street, last evening.

A procession of chrysanthemums, dahlias and autumn leaves were used to decorate the hall, all being the handiwork of Miss Eva Middleton.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Hedley, she wore a pretty picture in her wedding gown of white celanese flat crepe, fashioned with long waist and flaring skirt with a rhinestone buckle on the one side at the waistline was the only ornament on the dress. She wore a hand-made lace veil, a family heirloom, which had also been worn by her mother on her wedding day.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. John Hedley, who carried her down the aisle. She wore a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and greenery.

Miss Eva Middleton was bridesmaid and wore a frock of coral pink flat crepe trimmed with coral lace and brilliant buckles. Her bouquet was a sheaf of pink carnations and mauve chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Joy Hedley, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in a pretty frock of mauve georgette and cream lace. From a basket filled with rose petals, she scattered the fragrant leaves in the path of the bride.

Mr. Cecil Davies, cousin of the bride, supported the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Bert Yeoman and Albert Sabiston.

Mrs. E. C. Wilderstein presided at the organ and played the wedding marches on the arrival and departure of the wedding party and during the signing of the register. Miss O'Brien sang "My Prayer."

Following the marriage service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where a large number of guests assembled to offer their congratulations, and here Mrs. Hedley, dressed in black hat, and Mrs. Hudson, in brown and fawn crepe with hat to match, assisted in receiving the guests.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

WOMEN provided the year's biggest golf stories a glance at the records of the major tournaments of the 1929 season reveals. Furthermore, analysis of those records indicates that women are progressing at a much faster pace than men, much the same as they have done in other sports.

A dozen years ago a card of 96 by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd in the United States championship won her medal honors with several strokes to spare. She was the only player to crack 90 in the qualifying round. The recent United States tournament at Oakland Hills saw thirty-two women qualify in the championship flight. With scores ranging from 78, made by Helen Hicks and Virginia Van Wye to 88, Mrs. O. S. Hill shot a brilliant 77, which included six birdies on the last nine, to gain medalist honors in the Women's Western Championship at Mayfield in August.

One of the season's most heroic stunts was the manner in which Helen Hicks stroked a 33 coming in at Hamilton, Ont., to defeat Glenna Collett on the twentieth green in the final of the Canadian Women's Championship. Glenna did a notable bit of golfing when she shot 34 against Joyce Wethered at St. Andrews.

Horton Smith, Johnny Farrell, Tommy Armour and Leo Diegel failed to excite enthusiasm. Smith came back to earth after his sensational play during the winter season, while Farrell, the 1928 U.S. open champion, was wrong all year. Diegel and Armour loaded in their own sections and were not seen to display any outstanding performances.

Even Bobby Jones lost the amateur championship, and when he does that, something is wrong. When Bobby lost to Johnny Goodman in an early match of the amateur tournament at Pebble Beach, the bottom seemed to drop right out of the whole affair. Jimmy Johnston won it, but what concerned the golf public more was the fact that Bobby Jones lost it. True, Jones took the United States Open in the playoffs with Al Espinosa, but the latter suffered a tragic collapse and the play-off was a "bust."

Cincinnati has fallen for its new baseball owner, Sidney Hill, in a big way. They've rallied round the new chief because they like the manner in which he has hustled into action. The final stamp of approval won't be placed on the new proprietor until late next season, but just the same, Cincinnati fans feel confident Hill is going to do big things for them.

Right now Well is all hustle and bustle, and it's the off season. Of course, he may do a lot of hustling here and there and not accomplish anything. Those who really know him believe, however, that he will not let his enthusiasm get away with him. He wants a winner, there's no question of that, and thus far he has gone about the job of acquiring a team in a thoroughly business-like manner.

Before Well left Cincinnati to attend the world series he called into his office the majority of his best players, laughed and chatted with them in the hope of instilling a little pep, and laid before some of them their 1930 contracts.

"Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg never will meet Dick Shikat as long as the German refuses to wrestle some of the top-champs of the championship," declares "Doc" Brown, manager of the former All-America football star, who tackled Strangler Lewis and threw him for a goal.

Here is the situation. There are two world's heavyweight wrestling champions. Sonnenberg won his crown by reason of a victory over Strangler Lewis, recognized in the United States and Florida as the title-holder. Shikat won his in a three-cornered tournament in Pennsylvania, defeating Hans Sienke, another German grappler, and Jim London, giant-freak "grunt and growl" athlete. Pennsylvania, New York and a few other states now recognize Shikat as the title-holder, with various ring publications doing likewise.

Backers of Shikat declare Sonnenberg continually dodges the big blond German. But Doc Brown, the champion's manager, counters with the statement that Shikat is resorting to the same practices of which he accuses the champion. The Doctor declared: "What did Shikat do when Lewis challenged him to a match, winner take all? He demanded that Lewis beat Sonnenberg first, and after Dynamite Gus had flopped the Strangler twice."

So there it stands. Each is a champion and each wants the other to do something notable before consenting to the match. Chances are that any city in the country that likes wrestling would pay big money for the bout.

Fred Lindstrom of the New York Giants scored twenty-six runs in thirteen consecutive games for the longest run-scoring streak in the 1929 National League season.

Rogers Hornsby, Chicago; George Sisler, Boston, and Frank O'Doul, Don Hunt and Art Whitney, Philadelphia, took part in all games for their clubs in the 1929 National League season.

Cleveland Indians were whitewashed more times than any other team in the American League in 1929. The Indians failed to score in thirteen games.

Walter Hagen and Horton Smith Hang Up Enviably Record

U.S. Professional Golfers, Who Play Here Saturday Against Harold Lineham and Bob Morrison at Colwood Golf Club, Have Only Lost Five Matches in Over Sixty Starts; Are Playing Twenty-four Matches This Month, Besides Competing in Oregon Open Championship.

Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, famous U.S. golf professionals who will play here Saturday afternoon at the Colwood Golf Club in an eighteen-hole exhibition match against Harold Lineham and Bob Morrison, have hung up an enviable record on their present barnstorming tour. Since their return from Europe last June they have played more than sixty matches and have been defeated but five times. They hope to make a clean sweep of their matches in the Pacific Northwest. Saturday's match here will commence at 1.30 o'clock.

Boxer Dies From Injuries After Suffering K.O.

Newark, N.J., Oct. 23.—Raymond Miller, twenty, Newark boxer, died last night in city hospital from internal injuries received Saturday night when knocked out in the first round of a ten-round bout with Freddy Frasier. Miller was revived a few minutes after the knockout and went home. Yesterday he became unconscious and was taken to the hospital.

NAVY MAY BE COMPETITOR IN ICE LOOP

Tars Making Plans For Team in Commercial Hockey League This Season

Entries Close Friday Night; Teams Lining Up Players For Opening Games

Commercial League hockey teams are busy signing players in preparation for the opening of the season on November 22. It was announced to-day that there is a possibility of the Navy entering a team in the league. The tars have been approached and are quite enthusiastic. They will be represented at the meeting of the league Friday night at the Y.M.C.A., when entries will close and final plans made for the opening games.

The league is attempting to secure six teams if possible. The Navy, if they enter, would make the fifth, but if possible another club will seek a franchise before Friday night's meeting. Plumley and Ritchie, who won the championship last season, have lined up such well-known players as Claude Belcher, Jimmy Foster and Morris Green. Fitz's have also been grabbing up players and have signed Ivan Temple, Walker Taylor, Alex. Strath and Chet Downman. Jones Brothers, one of the new teams in the league, are known to have Lynn Patrick, Don Stewart and "Moose" Allan, while the Western Sheet Metal Works will be composed of practically all last year's rink rats.

To Jack Cawsey and Bill Mehlhorn in Chautauque, N.Y., by 2 and 1.
To Ben Lord and Eddie Shultz in Glens Falls, N.Y., by 3 and 2.
To Walter Murray and Frank MacDonald in Gary, Ind., 2 and 1.
To Mike Murra and Neil Coldron in Wichita, Kansas, 1 up.

When they complete the present tour in Yakima on November 3, they will have played seventy-five matches and appeared in four tournaments. Smith also played in the United States western open championship when Hagen was on a fishing trip.

STENOUS MONTH

Their most active month is the present one, their schedule calling for twenty-four matches and the Oregon open championship in Portland. Starting on October 20, their schedule reads: October 20, Boise; October 21, Walla Walla; October 22, Spokane; October 23 and 24, Seattle; October 25, Vancouver; October 26, Victoria; October 27, Tacoma; October 28, Aberdeen; October 29 to November 2, in Portland for Oregon open, and November 3, Yakima. Smith sails on November 6 from San Francisco for Honolulu, and will return in time to play in the open tournament at Berkeley and in the American Professional Golfers' Association championship at the Hillcrest Club, Los Angeles, starting December 2. Hagen will go from the northwest to Hollywood to make golf instructional talking pictures and to participate in the tournament in southern California until late in January, when he will leave with Joe Kirkwood for New Zealand and Australia.

Three Games On To-night

Six City League Basketball Teams Will Be in Action at "Y" Gym

Basketball followers will have plenty of entertainment provided for them in the next three days when no less than nine games will be played in various sections of the City League. Three games are carded at the "Y" gymnasium to-night.

In the opening game the Red Birds will clash with the Hudson's Bay in a women's senior "B" fixture. The Victoria Capitals, champions of the men's senior "A" division, have lost a game, while the Y.M.C.A. and West Road are billed to meet in the final fixtures.

The first game will get started at 7.30 o'clock. It was learned this morning that the Victoria Capitals, champions of the men's senior "A" division, have lost a game, while the Y.M.C.A. and West Road are billed to meet in the final fixtures.

Some of the line-ups to-night follow: Red Birds—T. Rennie, E. Smith, M. Burdick, J. Edwards, D. Lea, V. Taylor and B. Boyce.
Y.M.C.A. Senior "C"—Acres, Lawson, Craig, Engelson, Rowlands, Greenwood and Rutan.
Hudson's Bay—B. Peacock, E. Matthews, M. Zell, G. Cook and E. Fulton.

"Hack" Wilson Has One Less Worry in World

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Lewis "Hack" Wilson, Chicago Cub centre-fielder, has one less worry than he had yesterday. A suit for $20,000 against the pudgy outfielder, filed by a fan who charged that Wilson had assaulted him at Wrigley Field early last summer, has been dismissed.

When the case came up in Superior Court no attorneys appeared for either side.

Much Clamoring Being Seen For Loughran's Title

Henchmen of Maxie Rosenbloom, Toughest Man in Division to Beat, Who Trounced Joe Sekyra Monday Night, Seek Recognition for New York Veteran; Yale Okun and Possibly Mickey Walker Other Prospects for Light Heavyweight Crown; Madison Square Garden to Stage Tournament for Flyweights.

New York, Oct. 23.—The boys are waiting on the doorstep of the New York Athletic Commission for Santa Claus to appear out of season bearing a bagful of nice new championship crowns. Scarcely pausing for rest after the decisive victory over Joe Sekyra in Madison Square Garden Monday night, the henchmen of Maxie Rosenbloom, toughest man in the light heavyweight division to beat, stormed the doors of the commission yesterday morning seeking recognition for the New York veteran.

The solemn told Maxie to come back again some time, but were open to debate the problem of selecting Tommy Loughran's successor.

Maxie, rough, strong, cutting mauler with a most unorthodox and disconcerting style of fighting, has been a perplexing puzzle for the best battlers of two divisions. First he whipped every middleweight who would oppose him and then jumped to the 175-pound class to make life miserable for the outstanding contenders. He has never had a title shot.

Joe Sekyra, the blonde Bohemian from Dayton, fought him Monday night on the Palestine relief card and failed to win a round. The commission also had an unofficial request presented on behalf of Yale Okun, another New York 175-pounder, who gave Matt Adgie, the Philadelphia jockey, a thoroughgoing pasting on the same card. Okun has whipped Jimmy Braddock, the last man Loughran defeated before resigning his title, and Braddock has disposed of Jimmy Blatter.

The third contender, whose name was not brought up for the sake of the feelings of the commission, is Mickey Walker, the present middleweight king who is about to defend his title against Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles. If Walker loses his crown or fails to make the 160-pound weight limit, he will probably campaign among the light heavyweights, although both Mickey and his manager, Jack Kearns, are persons strictly "non grata" in the eyes of the New York commission. Walker's light heavyweight activities already include a defeat of Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen assassin.

Because of greater interest in the "Big Fellows," the vacant thrones in the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions probably will be filled before attention is turned to similar conditions in the bantam and flyweight classes.

The recognition of Panama Al Brown as 118-pound ruler of the National Boxing Association and his standing here as "defending bantamweight champion," leaves only a slight technicality in the way of the negro's general acceptance as the division title holder.

A tournament, with several strong flyweight contenders, will start in Madison Square Garden November 4, to select a new 112-pound king. The process is likely to be long drawn out.

Ball Fans Fail To Bother With About $20,000

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Failure of baseball fans to return their tickets for the sixth world series game probably will net the Cubs and Athletics $20,000 more than they had anticipated.

The total value of the pasteboard for the game that never was played was $202,000. Approximately $140,000 has been turned back. The refund will close soon.

FINAL GAME WAS A PINK TEA PARTY

Jimmy Dykes Says Feelings Ran High Between Athletics and Cubs Before That

Judge Landis Was Forced to Take a Hand; McCarthy Amused Over Signals

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 23.—Joe McCarthy, manager of the Chicago Cubs, was amused to-day over a statement by Jimmy Dykes, third baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, that the Athletics knew all the Cubs' pitching signals in the world series.

"If my men knew what the pitchers were going to throw they'd make so many runs in the very first inning they'd have to get an eviction order to put the side out," said McCarthy. "Any ball player or one who knows baseball, will laugh. It's too ridiculous."

Dykes told the Delaware County Real Estate Board at luncheon: "When one of the batters got on base he would fix his eyes on Taylor, the Chicago catcher, who at times, was a little careless. The runner would stand in a perfectly natural position until he caught the signal, then he would move his hand in such a way that the batter was informed what kind of a ball was about to be pitched, or else a man near the batter would catch the runner's signal and relay it to the man at the plate."

"We didn't watch for signals in that 10-8 game where we scored ten runs in the seventh inning," Dykes is quoted as saying. "But in all the other games we knew the Cubs' signals."

Dykes also spoke about the feeling between the Athletics and the Cubs. "It started in the first game," Dykes said. "It got to be so hot in the ninth game that before the start of the fifth game Judge Landis called Connie Mack and Joe McCarthy into a conference."

Daredevil Pilots Intend to Break Existing Records

Latest Model High-powered Machines Will Take Part in Climb at Mount Douglas on Thanksgiving Day; Handsome Trophy Donated in Memory of Late Paul Girardau; Four Classes Will Be Held With Climb Restricted to Club Members.

With some of the latest model high-powered machines entered and a new competition for the Paul Girardau trophy, the Victoria Motorcycle Club's annual hill climb, to be held on the Mount Douglas course November 11, is expected to be one of the most successful yet staged here.

During the last few weeks practices have been conducted at the hill and from the way in which many of the riders have displayed their skill and a nifty riding, new records are promised when the small "dynamite" motors are put up the stiff grade on Thanksgiving Day.

In memory of Paul Girardau, popular secretary of the club, who was killed in an unfortunate accident at Colwood this summer, the club has donated a handsome trophy to be awarded to the winner of the climb. Known as the Paul Girardau Cup, it will be a perpetual challenge trophy, to be held for one year by the annual winners.

FOUR CLASSES
As in previous competitions there will be four classes to accommodate the different types of motorcycles. The smallest of these is the thirty-seven-inch class, in which small twins, and single-cylinder jobs may compete. The "forty-five" class, which has proven the outstanding attraction at the climbs held in the last two years, will again be featured by keen competition. The "seventy-four" and "open" classes are as yet types of motors have drawn the larger number of entries. In the "open" especially some fine riding is expected as the Paul Girardau trophy will go to the winner.

Since last year's climb, several local riders have attended meets on the Mainland and through their riding there have gained considerable experience which will undoubtedly result in new marks on the Mount Douglas grade. Bob Shanks, who twice "dropped off second honors" at the climb held by the "Flying 30" Club of New Westminster, will ride the same machine which carried him to success in this affair.

George Bostad, holder of existing records on the hill, has been busy tuning up his Indian Chief to defend his record. The task will be a difficult one, however, as there will be a big threat from Harley Davidson "two-cam" jobs which have as yet not made an appearance on the local scene. Reg. Shanks is expected to ride one of these powerful motors.

FOUR-CYLINDERS IN
Possibility of four-cylinder machines going into action on the hill this year is also promising. A number of these machines are now being used by members of the club and they are put at the grade.

The climb of this year has been restricted to club riders who are pure amateur competition. It is felt by officials of the club that outside riders who compete without bringing in special motors and who have been the continual desire to keep the climb a strictly "stock model" affair.

TRAVELERS TO PLAY FOR CUP

Members of Local Body to Hold Semi-annual Golf Tournament at Uplands Nov. 2

The first semi-annual competition for the "Our Own Brand" golf trophy will be played by United Commercial Travelers at the Uplands Golf Club on November 2.

The trophy was presented by the Central Creameries to the United Commercial Travelers of America, Victoria Council 494, and will be played for twice yearly.

The contest will be staged over eighteen holes, with full handicaps allowed. The player finishing with the best net score will be awarded the challenge cup as well as a permanent miniature.

In addition to this trophy, several other prizes for hidden hole contests and other novelties will be given during the day.

Following the tournament the players and members of the U.C.T. will gather at the Uplands clubhouse for dinner.

Those who wish to compete are asked to file their names with Frank H. Partridge, Albert James, Leo Woodhouse or Roy Darnborough, not later than Thursday, October 31.

Starting times and handicaps must be sent in along with entries.

JIMMY McLARNIN SIGNS TO BATTLE NEW YORK IDOL

SONNENBERG IN STREET BRAWL

Heavyweight Wrestling Champ Who Meets Lewis To-night Is Battered Up

Los Angeles, Oct. 23.—Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, nursing a split lip and a blood nose acquired in an unscheduled street encounter, will risk his heavyweight wrestling title in a bout here to-night with Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former champion.

Sonnenberg was injured, mentally and physically, when he unexpectedly was called upon yesterday to defend himself from one of the flying tackles which occupy a prominent place in his own wrestling repertoire.

His physical hurts consisting chiefly of a profusely bleeding nose, he announced, would not interfere with his title bout to-night. His mental injury was assessed somewhat by a battery of warrants against Pete Ladjone, bail bond broker and amateur wrestler, issued from the office of City Prosecutor Lloyd S. Nit on Gus's complaint. Sonnenberg charged Ladjone with butting him with his head without warning, terminating a discussion of the possibilities of a bout between the amateur and the champion.

Lewis, in preparation for his attempt to regain the crown, has been training with the University of Southern California football team, in an effort to develop a defence against the flying tackle which lost him the championship to Sonnenberg.

Sonnenberg is a former Dartmouth football player.

Cochet Defeats Japanese Player In Second Match

Osaka, Japan, Oct. 23.—Henri Cochet of France, the world's foremost amateur tennis player, yesterday avenged a recent defeat at the hands of Takechi Harada, Japanese star, Cochet won 7-5, 11-9, evening matters at five matches each in the French-Japanese series. Cochet's defeat by Harada came in an earlier competition at Tokyo which was won by Japan, 6-3.

McLarnin Signed To Meet Mandell In Chicago Ring

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Sammy Mandell, ruler of the lightweights, and Jimmy McLarnin, Irish slugger from Vancouver, B.C., yesterday signed with Promoter Paddy Harmon for the ten-round feature bout at the Chicago Stadium on November 13. Mandell's title will not be involved, however, as they will meet at 145 pounds. It will be their second meeting. Mandell having beaten the coast slugger in New York more than a year ago, when McLarnin attempted to lift the lightweight crown.

On the same card Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, will make his first appearance since returning from Europe, in a ten-round bout with Charlie Smith, the latest British heavyweight importation.

Walter Hagen And Smith Win From Amateurs

Spokane, Oct. 23.—Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, barnstorming professional golfers, defeated Forest Watson and Louis K. Laue, local amateurs, in an exhibition match at the Manitoba Club here yesterday. Pressed close for the first nine holes, Hagen and Smith came back on the return trip and defeated Watson and Laue, 5 and 3. Watson, holder of the course record at 89, and Laue took the lead at the start when Watson dropped a birdie on the first, and they held it until the fifth, when the visitors both sank par. Hagen's medal was 70, two under par. Smith's 73. Hagen, who admitted he was after Watson's record, was wild off the green, but unerring when upon it.

While this is the first barnstorming tour for the blonde Missouri youth, Hagen declares it is the last visit of the sort he will make to the Pacific coast.

Johnny Risko Finds Maloney Easy Pickings

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 23.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, won by a technical knockout from James Maloney of Boston at the end of the second round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here last night.

Referee William McPharland stopped the bout because Maloney was unable to continue.

Although Joe Delahunty led the aggregate scorers in the match between The Colonist and Poodle Dog Cafe, the newbies failed to pull through against their opponents and went down to defeat by the old game in the fivepin fixture played at the Arcade Alley yesterday. Delahunty's aggregate score was 594, while his individual high score was 251, a mark equalled by S. Nelson of the cafe men.

In the other fivepin fixture of the day the C.N.R. took all three games from the Elks when four members of

All Six Clubs to Swing Into Action On Opening Date

Fifteen Matches To Be Played During First Half of Schedule, Which Starts November 2; Possibility of McKechnie Cup Fixture Before Christmas Promises Busy Season; Six Games for Seniors in First Half.

While the intermediate English rugby teams of the City League are ready to swing into action on November 2, considerable doubt is being shown over the opening date of the Senior League. According to plans made at the last meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union, November 2 was also set as the day for the opening of the senior loop, but since Victoria won its Canadian rugby game against Varsity last week and prolonged its life in this league the Canadian Scottish and J.B.A.A. will be unable to field teams for the proposed opening.

This holds the season back for this division until November 9. Preparations are now under way to have the Old Boys of the University School, now residing in Vancouver, play the Old Boys now living here on that date. If these arrangements go through, the Scottish will be unable to field a team on that date, as a number of their stars play for the local Old Boys. The Highlanders will be out of the running until November 16 as a result.

However, the J.B.A.A. are willing to meet the Navy on November 9 and, in all probability, the season will start with this game. The following week the Scots will battle the oarsmen, it is understood.

INTERMEDIATES READY. Although turmoil apparently reigns in the senior division, the Intermediates have drawn up a schedule commencing on November 2 and continuing until December 7. In the first game of this division, the Y.M.C.A. will meet the J.B.A.A. Canadian Scottish, the Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria College, University School.

The complete schedule for the first half follows:

November 2
Y.M.C.A. vs. J.B.A.A.	Canadian Scottish vs. Oak Bay Wanderers	Victoria College vs. University School
November 9
Victoria College vs. J.B.A.A.	University School vs. J.B.A.A.	Victoria College vs. Canadian Scottish	Y.M.C.A. vs. Oak Bay Wanderers
November 16
Y.M.C.A. vs. Victoria College	J.B.A.A. vs. Oak Bay Wanderers	University School vs. Canadian Scottish
November 23
Y.M.C.A. vs. Victoria College	J.B.A.A. vs. Oak Bay Wanderers	University School vs. Canadian Scottish
November 30
University School vs. Y.M.C.A.	Canadian Scottish vs. J.B.A.A.	Victoria College vs. Oak Bay Wanderers
December 7
Canadian Scottish vs. Y.M.C.A.	Oak Bay Wanderers vs. University School

Although no definite announcement of a schedule for the McKechnie Cup games will be forthcoming until after the Vancouver Rugby Union meets, it is virtually positive that the Varsity squad will play here against the local "rep" team during the U.B.C. invasion, early in January.

The local union will also try to secure another game against a mainland team during the first half.

In the regular Senior League, each team will play the other two twice during the first half. Six games will be played and the first half should be completed by Christmas, weather permitting.

However, if a McKechnie Cup game is staged before the New Year, the teams will have to play on every Saturday from November 6 to December 21 to complete the schedule on time.

SCOTS LOOK STRONG

Despite the fact that the Canadian Scottish will not be able to field a fifteen for the opening date, they appear to have the strongest squad in the league on paper.

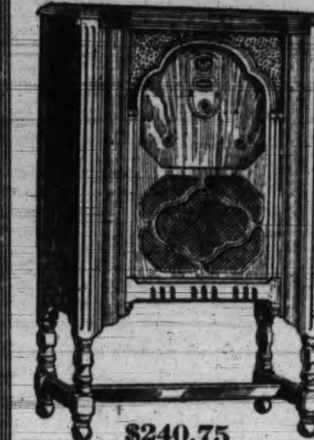

The forward line will be selected from Godfrey Wenman, Cy Bernard, Bruce and Campbell Forbes, G. Fanning, Jack Miller, Lamb, Johnny Rowlands and Hestlein. Four half backs of considerable note are striving for places behind the scrum. These are Bill Pollard, Bill Parker, Bob Tye and Jack Gann. For the three-quarter line, the Scottish have lined up Reg. Wenman, Brian Hunningham, Jack Horne, Bernie Kinsman and Pete Turgoose. Stuart Henderson will try out for fullback.

"Wildcat" Carter In Comeback To Win By Knockout

A NEW SEASON'S OFFERING BY PIERCE-ARROW

A de Luxe Exhibit of Late Style Expressions in the New Straight Eight Line

FINE car fashions were completely revolutionized this year by the slender, low-swung grace of the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight line.

And now this new line is to be seen in the season's latest colorings and fabrics—with interiors and exteriors individually harmonized by famed masters of decoration.

Each of these cars is an exquisite example of what artistry can do by way of accenting natural beauty of design.

De Luxe Models is a term used to designate a special group of late Pierce-Arrow creations. These are equipped in the custom manner, and the appointments are the very last word in motoring luxury.

There is about these de Luxe creations an atmosphere of patrician elegance. Present, in fact, throughout the entire display is this same high note of quality and distinction and loveliness that is so essentially Pierce-Arrow.

As to today's Pierce-Arrow mechanical perfections: It has been repeatedly announced that in the new Straight Eight is found every device of proved character known to the engineering of fine motor cars.

Such modern equipment, for example, as non-shatterable glass throughout, easy gear-shifting, super-efficient brakes, adjustable seats—whatever, in fact, can contribute to the already high efficiency of Pierce-Arrow—becomes a part of the car automatically and as a matter of course.

All who admire fine automobiles are cordially invited to see the new season's showing of the latest Pierce-Arrows. And this with the assurance that nothing newer or finer exists in today's motor car.

$4,245 to $6,675 (Delivered at Victoria, Fully Equipped)

In purchasing a car from income the average allowance on a good used car usually more than covers the initial Pierce-Arrow payment

BLIND WOMEN SECURE PLACES ON PAYROLLS

Special Education Opens
Avenues of Employment
Previously Closed

Through the unceasing efforts of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, opportunities for work are opening up to the adult blind, along avenues that even a short while ago were deemed irrevocably closed to them.

After all, the law of fitness and selection applies just the same to the blind worker as to the men and women of normal sight looking for a job.

The question is, what have they done before, if anything; how capable did they perform their work, and how partially or completely are they incapacitated from continuing work along the same lines?

There is no more occasion for the adult woman, stricken suddenly with loss of sight, to be moping at home in idleness and misery for the rest of her days, than for the blinded man halted temporarily—perhaps at the zenith of his career.

There is work for both to do, and the institute sets out to find it. The blinded woman will naturally gravitate in the direction of her previous experience and predilections.

If she is domestically inclined and has never ventured forth in the business world, she will prefer some activity, according to her capabilities that will enable her to remain at home.

The business woman, on the other hand, will seek an outlet as nearly as possible like the work she knows about and understands.

Nothing is changed in the person, except the single factor of sight, and this lack is compensated for in an incredibly short time, by a manual dexterity which, while it can never take the place of sight, can and does enable its possessor to remain a contented and useful member of the community.

The former domestic workers for the most part prefer to stay at home, where their resources are by no means exhausted when the household tasks that they learn to accomplish with comparative ease are completed.

Knitting or sewing, the weaving of mats and rugs, basket making, relating games—especially adapted to the blind, or Braille reading, all these are supplied and taught them by the home teachers of the institute, who, themselves blind, come to their homes, uniquely equipped, to understand their initial difficulties and discourage them.

FOR BUSINESS WOMEN
To help them adjust themselves to their new condition and retain their inspirational place in the household, as mother, wife and sister.

For the blind business woman, increased opportunities are daily presenting themselves.

The National Institute, first to recognize the need for employment as well for reasons of self-support, as to keep up the courage and morale of these sightless women, operates a factory in Toronto, until a year and a half ago, the only one of its kind in the world where blind women and girls operate electrically-driven sewing machines, making aprons, smocks and housedresses.

During the past eighteen months two similar factories have been established, one in Boston, Mass., and the other by the Winnipeg branch of the National Institute. The pieces are cut and assembled, and these workers do all the finishing, even to buttonhole making.

But in seeking a wider field of employment, the institute is constantly scouring the factories and industrial plants employing sighted workers, searching out and finding departments wherever feasible, wherein they can place the blinded worker, who, responding quickly to the necessary tuition and training, soon occupies her rightful place and ability and earning power.

The institute seeks the post, arranges for a preliminary demonstration of the ability of the blind applicant, and pays her living expenses if needed until she becomes fully self-supporting in the work.

PROVE EFFICIENT
Blind women have proven particularly efficient in candy factories, dipping and packing the chocolates.

Likewise in tea packing plants, where the first operator—introduced by the institute—was not only blind but deaf. Despite the many misgivings expressed by the management, who though deeply sympathetic, yet feared this double disability an insuperable bar, this girl became an expert at her work in a very short time, exceeding the normal wage.

Another blind girl, wrapping golf ball cores in one of the great rubber plants of the Dominion, in the first week of her employment reached the normal production rate of 75c and 85c an hour, although she had never engaged in any kind of factory work before.

The Westinghouse Electric Company Limited, eager to co-operate with the institute, took on a totally blind girl who had done no previous work of any kind. After the first few days she attained the basis of piece work, loading and unloading a machine for the painting of electric light bulbs. Three hundred bulbs an hour are painted on this machine, the blind operator handling each bulb twice in the process.

BEATS NORMAL WORKERS
Referring to another blind worker in a letter written to the institute regarding her work, the De Forest Radio Corporation Limited speaks of the "remarkable progress; her work is straight assembly work where quick, deft fingers are absolutely necessary, and she has on many occasions exceeded the production of workers of normal sight."

While as typists and dictaphone operators, blind office workers are proving more than ordinarily efficient. Advanced by these results far beyond the experimental stage, the institute assured of the hearty co-operation of leaders in business and industry alike, is heartened at the tremendous field of opportunity opening up to its blind workers.

Five special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, November 14, December 11, January 23, March 26, April 1.

Happy Valley

The Colwood basketball team visited the Happy Valley School Friday afternoon and proved too strong for the home team, the score being 19-3. L. G. Matthews, principal of the Happy Valley School, acted as referee.

The line-up was as follows:
Colwood—B. Shields, R. Piercy, B.

Piercy, J. Brown, A. Peatt and R. Smith.

Happy Valley—N. McKay, M. McKay, Tena McLeod, Verna Smith and Margaret McKeown.

The annual Halloween party under the auspices of the Lutton and Happy Valley Women's Institute will be held in Lutton Hall on Halloween night, October 31. All children in the district are cordially invited. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock; followed by games and special entertaining.

Mrs. J. Ciminelli of Mount Tolmie, Victoria, was a week-end guest of Mrs. R. Brown, "Mandalay."

A party of friends, numbering about twenty-five, from Victoria, paid a surprise visit to Mrs. R. Brown, "Mandalay," Saturday evening. Cards, games and dancing were enjoyed. The master of ceremonies for the occasion was W. Brown.

A special harvest Thanksgiving service will be held at the Reformed Episcopal Church on Sunday, October 27 at 3 p.m. The committee in charge of decorating the church will be grateful of gifts of flowers, fruit and vegetables, which should be left at the home of Mrs. S. Hutchison by 12:30 o'clock Saturday.

How do you know there Is a Santa Claus?

In spite of all proof there are still some who think there is no St. Nicholas in the Land of the Midnight Sun, bordering the Domain of Ice and Snow with Gnomes and fairies working for all the boys and girls in the world.

But for the boys and girls who know better here is a chance to earn some extra money for Christmas.

Here is your opportunity. If you are less than 12 years old and believe in Santa Claus the rest is very easy.

The Victoria Times offers a prize of $25 for the best letter of not more than 150 words telling just why you know there is a Santa Claus. For the letter which is judged second to the best there is an award of $15; the third prize is $10 and the fourth $5. For the next five letters to receive honorable mention The Times will give $1.

There is only one condition attached to the contest—
You must be LESS than 12 years old.

All letters must be received at the office of The Times not later than midnight of Wednesday, November 20. Announcements of the winners with their letters will be made the following Monday, November 25.

Now is the time to get busy. There certainly is a Santa Claus and all the world knows that he lives right on top of the world 'way up at the North Pole.

Of course there are some little boys and girls who don't think there is a Santa, but that is just all they know about it. You can prove it to them now that you know there is one and he will come to see you at Christmas and with the money from your letter you can buy just lots of presents and candy.

Address your letter to the Santa Claus Editor, The Victoria Daily Times and be sure you mail it in plenty of time. Then Watch The Times for your name among the winners.

CHRISTIANITY SOLUTION FOR INDIA PROBLEM

Equitable Religion, That Will
Free Women, Sole Hope For Lands' Questions

Prof. Netram of Indore, India,
Speaks of Homeland to Women's Canadian Club

Presenting the problem facing educated and cultured Hindus and Mohammedans in India who are looking for suitable wives among their own people, Professor J. W. R. Netram of Indore, India, outlined some of the difficulties encountered by Westernized natives of the of the Women's Canadian Club at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

He conclusively proved the tragedy of those taking the alternative course of marrying Western women by showing the wide divergencies between the religions of the two peoples.

Christianity, he said, was the only solution to this problem. Opening his address, Professor Netram noted the Westernization of different Mohammedan nations. He illustrated the successful liberation of women in Turkey, where the old religious beliefs of the land had been considerably shattered by the Great War. Similar success was seen in Egypt, he added, noting that both these lands were closely related to Western civilizations.

AFGHANISTAN FAILURE

As a contrast to this he held up the example of the attempted reformation and liberation of Afghanistan, where the King and Queen attempted to free women by edict. Inasmuch as the masses of the people were not in touch with the Western atmosphere and consequently had no respect for the ideals it embraced, this attempt had been a failure which has caused the abdication of the ruler.

In India he noted the benefits received by the men through British influence. In education particularly this was evidenced, he said, but with the exception of Christians the women benefited very little. At present out of every 1,000 women, only twenty-one could read and write, he pointed out.

WOMEN AWAKENING
However, in recent years there was a growing spirit of awakening toward women in India, and at the present time they were being allowed to acquire education.

Nevertheless, Professor Netram continued, despite the work Christian women have done for those of India, they must do a great deal more to avert a very serious tragedy.

He then spoke of visiting the Hindus and Mohammedans of India studying in London. When these returned to their native lands it was only logical that they should seek life mates who could enjoy their culture and education. This desire in a land where the masses were overwhelmingly illiterate was causing a tremendous problem, he stated.

GRAVE PROBLEM

The fact that Christian communities gave equal educational opportunities to young men and women was stressed during the talk, but where only 5,000,000 out of 300,000,000 were Christian, the problem for the masses was still exceptionally grave.

The British Government by making the study of English compulsory in schools and universities was Westernizing the young men without influencing the illiterate women, and was partly responsible for this problem, the speaker said.

Particularly effective in the Christian mission field was the work of the hospitals endowed by missionary societies, he continued. As the masses became acquainted with the work of the doctors and nurses and saw how they helped all classes of people irrespective of wealth or religion, they were being won over to Christianity, he stated.

LADY DUFFERIN FUNDS

He dealt at some length with the Lady Dufferin Fund, its origin and work, and congratulated all British institutions that were tending for the physical well-being of his people.

"There religion is such," was the manner in which the masses accounted for the action of Christian missionary hospitals, the speaker added.

Hence he looked forward to the day when Christianity would spread further over India to better the condition of women in that land.

When this was accomplished, he concluded, the East could mingle with the West, as the West was mingling with the East, for the mutual benefit of the world.

Preceding the address, Mrs. P. B. Scourah, who occupied the chair, spoke of the work and life of the speaker, sketching some of his activities in his own land.

The talk was received with great enthusiasm by the club, which expressed its appreciation in a hearty vote of thanks.

PARTY RALLY IN WARD FIVE

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—Wheat: The bulls in wheat had little to enthuse about to-day as export business was light, and both Liverpool and Buenos Ayres markets displayed weakness. While Broomhall estimated world requirements for this crop year at only 696,000,000 bushels, as compared with slightly over 800,000,000 last year.

The local market opened 1/2 to 1/4 lower and held very steady during the larger part of the day, but turned weak during the last hour when prices sold off sharply, finally getting through the daily bids. The offerings were not particularly heavy but there was some long liquidation going on steadily, while the buying was largely for speculative account with part credited to New York.

The local cash market was the quietest in several days with exporters doing practically nothing, although a few loads of No. 2 northern were worked overnight. It was reported that the pool had worked some wheat sales, to the Orient, but no figures available.

Broomhall reported the Argentine weather generally clear this morning and warm weather will be beneficial for all growing crops as the recent weather has been cold with some frost and snow. Murray, the American export expert, now in the Argentine, estimated the new wheat crop in that country at 224,000,000 bushels, as compared with 210,000,000 harvested last year. The figures were somewhat larger than expected.

Coarse grains: These markets were all sharply lower, due principally to the weakness in wheat. Rye was weaker than wheat. There was some further business in oats to eastern Canada but there was nothing doing in barley and rye and exports were nil. Flax: Somewhat easier due to the general weakness, but offering light and demand slack.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

(By Miller, Court & Co. Limited)

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—Traders in the Vancouver market, as well as in Calgary, had the satisfaction to-day of seeing prices remain steady here, while prices on the other exchanges of the continent were tumbling on all sides.

A few of the items here actually firmed to-day. George Copper moved up from 2.60 to 2.75 on some short covering.

There was heavy buying of Grandview with sales of more than 20,000 shares before noon.

The oils also held well.

Official report from Nelson says that the Reno vein has widened to over 15 feet holding values. The mill is running steadily at about 30 tons daily.

Pend Oreille stock has got down to the 3.50 level. It will be a year before production is reached at Pend, but in the meantime there should be a steady flow of good news. The mine is reported to be opening up well.

Stocks To Go Still Lower Says Babson, Urging Bonds

Boston, Oct. 23.—Roger W. Babson, the noted economist of Wellesley Hills, who in the summer predicted the present drastic break in the stock market and said that altogether it would run to sixty points in the averages, is out with a follow-up statement to-day.

In to-day's statement, Mr. Babson says that it is still a bear market and that new lows may be expected after the present temporary rally.

Mr. Babson expressed the opinion that stocks could be sold and good bonds purchased.

Stolen A.P.C. Stock Is All Recovered

Calgary, Oct. 23.—A.P. Consolidated shareholders will be issued subscriptions entitling them to purchase one share of capital stock at par value of $1 a share for each five shares they hold of record November 14, 1929, it has been announced by the board of directors.

These rights must be exercised on or before December 15, 1929. All shares must be transferred and of record on the books of the company of November 15 to obtain rights on the preferential basis it was stated.

The company also issued the following statement regarding rumors of theft of stock:

"A total of 12,000 shares were stolen from the company's offices. Numbers of these shares were immediately supplied all brokerage houses, with the result that most of the stolen stock has been recovered. The company is in absolutely no financial difficulties as the result of the stolen stock. Trust companies in Calgary, Vancouver and Toronto are registrars and transfer agents of stock."

Bond Market Turns Narrower

New York, Oct. 23.—Convertible bonds traded narrowly higher in early transactions on the bond market to-day, but volume of business was comparatively small and the action of some of the rails afforded a more interesting feature. There was broad activity in the carriers, particularly the lower coupon bonds and the adjustment income group.

Missouri Pacific general 4s met a brisk demand coincident with the announcement of the plan for paying off the accumulated dividends on the preferred and scored a gain of more than a point. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 4s also were well taken. Advances of a half-point or more appeared in Aitchison general 4s, Chicago and Western Indiana consolidated 4s, Denver and Rio Grande, 4s and Lehigh Valley of Pennsylvania 4s. St. Paul 3s and Hudson Manhattan 5s advanced.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

OCTOBER 23

By N.Y. Stock Corporation's Lead Wire

In the adjustment income section, the formed soaring nearly 1½; Chicago and Alton 3s were bid up 3 points and the certificates 3.

Burlington 4½s with a loss of about a point were in the small group of rails that eased.

American Beet Sugar 6s and United States Rubber 5s gained 1, but most of the industrials, as well as the utilities, were inactive in the early trading.

United States government liberties and treasuries showed some irregularity in contrast to their recent strength.

Gains of about a point were held by American Telephone 4½s, American T. G. Chemical 5½s and Chesapeake Corporation 5s, among the more active convertibles. Texas Corporation 5s also gained.

New bond offerings included a $30,000,000 issue by the New York port authority of New York-New Jersey interstate bridge 4½ per cent gold bonds, due serially from 1929 to 1933, priced to yield 4.66 to 5.15 per cent. The province of Saskatchewan marketed a $2,000,000 of 30-year non-callable 5 per cent debentures at 99½.

EDGAR MILTON IS SENTENCED

Edgar B. Milton, a veteran of many years' service in the English army, was sentenced in City Police Court this morning to serve three months in jail following his conviction on three charges of theft.

Milton was non-committal throughout the whole proceedings. Charged with the theft of some silver fish knives and forks from the car of A. Kahout, he asked: "Did anybody see me steal them?"

He had been paid $5 by cheque for the stolen articles. J. W. Ford of the British Furniture Store testified. The magistrate asked if the cheque had been cashed.

"Sure it was cashed. I gave it to my landlord to pay the rent," the accused said.

The accused was found guilty on this count and also on a charge of stealing a rug from the car of S. Hume Inverness Street. He was previously convicted on a charge of stealing a rug from another automobile.

STOCKS CRASH IN MOST TERRIFIC BREAK YET

Bottom Drops Out in Last Hour To-day and Prices Melt

Even Bears Stunned By Their Success; Auburn Slips 85 Points

New York, Oct. 23 (5:45 p.m.) (B.C. Bond)—Dow Jones average of thirty industrials at the close to-day stood at 305.85, off 20.66 points for the day; and for twenty rails at 167.28, off 5.10 points.

Wall Street this evening heard rumors that some investment trusts are having to throw their enormous holdings overboard.

New York, Oct. 23 (5:30 p.m.)—Market broke wide open in the last hour this afternoon, with a vicious crash that wiped out fortunes of millions in minutes, and represented a decline of between two and three billion dollars.

Hoarse from their cheers of joy, the bears, their numbers greatly enlarged during the last few days, jumped from stock to stock topping it over into the abyss.

What few remaining struggling hairs were left on the lambs, after their fleece was removed last week, were clipped off—and their tails as well—in the debacle this afternoon.

With the quotation tape running an hour and one-half behind the market, total sales ran up to 6,368,300 shares to-day, with more than two and one-half million shares going through in the last hour.

Stocks were thrown overboard for anything that could be got for them. This applied even to stocks of the highest calibre.

Auburn Motor crashed from 335 to 250.

U.S. Steel started down from 212 and shot through its last low level at 202-206, and did not halt until it reached 201½.

Even a high grade one like Standard Oil of New Jersey broke from 82 to 70.

Radio fell from 80 to 67½.

Practically the whole motor list flopped down to new lows for the year.

General Electric broke from 342 to 314.

Western Union fell from 272 to 248.

American and Foreign Power fell from 194 to 170.

C.P.R. broke from 213 to 205.

Standard Gas tumbled from 190 to 164.

Even American Telephone and Telegraph cracked from 289 to 285.

Stone and Webster dropped from 141 to 116½.

National Biscuit dropped from 215 to 201.

Traders who had been educated to the idea that the market could not break simply had to hold their breath, so precipitate was the decline.

Brokers and their staffs were frantic crying for more margins from their customers. Those who could not be reached or did not respond instantly had their stocks dumped overboard without more ado.

The bears were also stunned as the trading broke its close this afternoon. They had cleaned up such enormous sums and with such ease that it was hard for them to believe that it was not a dream.

Pressure to-day differed from that on the last big selling movement in that it affected the high priced shares more than the general run of issues.

It was general panic, not a panic accompanied by uncovering of stop loss orders. There was nothing in the news to account for the selling which broke over the market soon after noon hour and continued in increasing volume until the close.

Notwithstanding the heavy liquidation of the week, which normally should bring a large decrease in brokers' loans, the best thing that can be said is that the market is showing a material increase in the total of loans on account of the large amounts of rights and new subscriptions that have recently been put into circulation.

EUROPEAN CAPITAL WITHDRAWN

New York, Oct. 23 (B.C. Bond)—All of the cables testify to the withdrawal of European capital from Wall Street on a very extensive scale, partly because of the recent one per cent rise in London bank rate, against a two per cent fall at New York.

FACING ANOTHER TEST

Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients:

"The market will face another test of its position. The bear party has collected some excellent profits in the recent smash and will not be content to retire quietly. The best thing that can possibly occur now is for the market to quieten down. Some excellent buying has made its appearance in some of the high grade specialties and this buying could be carried further."

"Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, which was called to your attention again on Tuesday, moved ahead seven points and is headed for much higher prices. The group working in it expects a price of 100."

The New National City Bank Food Company, the "Quality Foods," is fast taking shape. Hershey Chocolate, large power plant, while the Price brothers have a pulp and paper mill at River Bend.

These plants are located about twenty miles from Kenogami. He will be shown the Idle Maligne power plant, the Pioneer development of the Saguenay.

This is the final holiday Mr. MacDonald will have in Canada. To-night he will leave by special train for Quebec, there to be a guest of the Lieutenant-Governor. To-morrow and Friday he will have a number of official engagements to fill, culminating with his public address at a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs of Quebec on Friday at 1 p.m.

Later Friday the MacDonald party will board the liner Duchess of York for the return voyage to England.

Staff Changes Announced By Nesbitt, Thomson & Co.

D. K. BALDWIN

M. A. THOMSON

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Nesbitt, Thomson and Company Limited to-day announced the following changes in the organization of the company, to be effective November 1, 1929:

M. A. Thomson, sales manager, to be vice-president in charge of purchasing.

J. S. Aird, secretary-treasurer, to be vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

K. Baldwin, supervisor of Ontario branches, to be director and sales manager.

R. H. Dean, assistant to sales manager, to be director and assistant sales manager.

Kraft Cheese, Colgate, etc., are the nucleus for the new company.

The "Westinghouse Airbrake" continues exceedingly well bought. In this connection it is learned that equipment companies are expected to do much better the rest of this year and 1930.

The railroads have put off ordering equipment for several years, but are now in a position where they will have to enter the market.

"Corn Products and Timken Roller Bearing" two issues which were in built movements when the market started downward, are still well bought and should sell higher."

STANDARD BRANDS SUPPORTED

Recent support of Standard Brands is traceable to its bankers, and since predicted additional large scale acquisitions are planned, presumably through exchange of stock, it is important that the market quotations be maintained.

The Journal of Commerce reports that brokerage circles considered short covering as the most important factor in the recovery of the utilities the first of this week, particularly in view of the small floatings of some of them, the majority of which has been absorbed for merger purposes.

Traders who had been educated to the idea that the market could not break simply had to hold their breath, so precipitate was the decline.

Brokers and their staffs were frantic crying for more margins from their customers. Those who could not be reached or did not respond instantly had their stocks dumped overboard without more ado.

TRUE VALUES UNDERESTIMATED

Where mining stocks stand up under the terrific pounding of a slumping market, there must be intrinsic values behind them. Such has been the case with Reeves-McDonald, Noble Five and similar issues.

The biggest profits are naturally made by those who buy at the lowest prices. The market action of these stocks for months indicates that they will never be bought cheaper. Now is the obvious time to buy.

WORKS FOURTEEN HOURS A DAY AT SIXTY-ONE!

Up at Six—Out all Day—Home at Eight!
AND NEVER TIRED!

Thanks Kruschen for Amazing Vitality

What a wonderful record! No wonder her friends are amazed at her vitality. And no wonder she is grateful to Kruschen which makes such energy and activity possible.

"My age is 61 years, so you will see I am not a young woman. I am out all day exposed to all weather, and have been now for 15 years. I am up every morning at 6 o'clock, and standing all day, only sitting down for breakfast, dinner, tea, until 8 o'clock at night. People often say to me 'How tired you must be.' They cannot understand when I say 'No—I don't get tired.' Then I am often asked how it is I look so well and never get rheumatism, and am always fit for work. I tell them it must be the 'little daily dose' of Kruschen Salts taken every morning, in my first cup of tea. For ten years I have taken the daily dose of Kruschen Salts and have kept well in health—never had a doctor since I started to take them. I never have a headache or indigestion. People often tell me I am a marvel to stand as I do."

There you have a typical case of the thousands we hear about every month, where regular perseverance with "the little daily dose" has given even elderly men and women all the energy and vitality and good health of a two-year-old. The reason is clear. The six salts in Kruschen keep the system regular and punctual in its most important daily duty! They make constipation impossible. They arouse natural proper activity in liver and kidneys. They ensure a clear blood-stream—free from all impurities—strong in resistance to disease—carrying health and vigour to the whole body and brain.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 4c and 7c per bottle, and is manufactured by S. Griffith Hughes Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1786). Importers: McMillan Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

The Innocent Cheat By Ruth Dewey Groves AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL—POOR GIRL," ETC.

His eyes had ceased to smile with his lips. Helen knew by their seriousness that he meant to convey a message that he would not depend upon her money for a living.

She lifted her lips for his kiss, thankful that he did not make an issue of that point at this particular moment. She wanted to forget herself and him and think only of Eva—to try to find a way to help her.

She drove back home alone, and on the way she reached a decision in regard to Leonard Brent. If everything else failed, she would not induce Eva to go away—to Italy to study, or to travel for a while wherever her fancy took her—she would buy Brent out.

Her lips curled in disdain as she rejected the thought that he might prefer Eva to money.

At home she went straight to the telephone and called his apartment. His Japanese servant answered, and she said, peremptorily, that she must speak to Mr. Brent.

He did not keep her waiting long. "I want to see you about something very important," she said. "At once. Will you come up to Bramblewood?"

"As soon as possible," Brent assured her, and hung up.

"Well," he mused as he dressed. "I think we've come to the show-down."

CHAPTER XLIII

Brent dressed leisurely and lingered over his breakfast, taking a third cup of the crystal-clear coffee his man had prepared for him—adding a tiny pinch of salt in place of sugar or cream. Its steaming fragrance, mingled with the smoke from his Turkish cigarette, filled him with a sense of well-being that brought the look of a lately-fed jungle beast into his eyes.

His satanic smile played over his lips now and then as certain pleasing thoughts came to him.

Helen must be stewing over his delay. Let her. The more upset she was the better for him.

Carmel had promised to be good, being clever enough to know the limits of all things.

Eva was a mouse. No trouble there. That girl Shallimar—well, if she hadn't landed Bob Ennis it didn't matter. She'd soon be packing—he'd see to that. Not have her hanging around to give Ennis an excuse to call. The young puppy might have the nerve even with the door closed in his face at Helen's orders.

But what did it matter? What did anything matter? Brent drank deep from the cup, drew in a long breath of smoke and steeped himself in his satisfaction.

Helen was his. He could take her when he willed. She was utterly helpless.

Finally he glanced at a small clock on his desk, arose, stretched himself agreeably and went to change his dressing gown for his street coat.

His Japanese servant, ever watchful, came in to help him. Brent told him to telephone for his car.

The garage was just around the corner, a convenience for which those who hired space in it were required to pay heavily. The car was brought to the door of Brent's apartment house within ten minutes and he went down to take the wheel, thoroughly convinced that the ultimate success of his scheming was at hand.

Fears he had entertained formerly that Helen would refuse the new role he would offer her had subsided. No one could be so mad, he believed.

Give up millions? Face poverty—a girl who had been carefully protected by her life? Yes, perhaps he admitted, but the publicity! Could she stand up to all that exposure would mean to her? He thought not.

Not caring for driving, he made good time to Yonkers.

Helen was waiting for him. She ran to open the door herself, having lost much of her self-control while waiting for him in nervous anxiety.

He attempted to take her hand for a kiss in greeting but she drew it away from him and turned to lead the way to the living-room.

Brent followed without a word. She must be the first to speak—it suited his purpose to have it so.

In the privacy of the vast room she whirled upon him and her words came like the lash of a whip.

"I've heard about you and Eva," she said.

Brent stiffened slightly, the only outward sign that she had disturbed his peace. One eyebrow rose up inquiringly, but he remained silent.

"Well, what do you mean to do about it?" Helen pursued.

"Do?" Brent repeated blankly.

"Are you thinking of marrying her?" Helen asked tensely.

"I see," Helen said icily. "I am glad to know that you have no such impossible intention." She went on, her eyes fairly burning with scorn for him.

"You need not have worried," Brent said hastily. "I shall marry no one but you, Helen."

For a moment Helen was too furious to speak. Then: "You are mistaken."

she said, using all her will to say it calmly. "If you expect to marry me."

"Because of Eva?" Brent taunted her. "My word, you are jealous, aren't you?"

"I thought you at least too intelligent to be facetious at a time like this," Helen promptly returned.

"Why at a time like this?" he inquired blandly.

Helen came close to losing her temper completely. "Don't you know that you've simply broken Eva's heart?" she cried.

"None sense."

"Some day I'm certain she will think so, too," Helen agreed. "But for the present she imagines herself in love with you. She wants to see you. That is why I have sent for you."

"She isn't here," Brent asked, with a touch of consternation.

"No, she isn't," Helen relieved him. "She doesn't know how futile it would be to make an appeal to you for any kind of decent treatment—but I know, and I wish to spare her further disillusionment."

"Yes?" Brent smiled over her opinion of him, thinking of what she was yet to learn. "How do you propose to do that?"

"I want your promise never to see her again. No fate could be worse for her than to go on with you."

"Thanka," he answered dryly. "I'm willing to make that promise. The kid's a damned nuisance, but don't think I'm going to desert her. My dear, I simply find it convenient to comply with your wishes in the matter."

"But should you change your mind?" Helen began warningly, "let me tell you that your brother will thrash you up an inch of your life—and may be he won't stop there."

"An inch to live," Brent exclaimed. "Sounds like a popular questionnaire. 'What would you do if you had an inch to live?'"

"But you can't go forever tramping on other people without some day being trampled on in turn."

Brent smiled broadly. "What a dear little lecturer you are," he stated, enthusiastically. "You ought always to be in a temper, Helen. You literally blaze."

"I mean what I say," Helen cautioned him.

Brent sobered. "Where does young Ennis come in?" he shot at her suddenly.

Helen held her head haughtily. "I am going to marry him," she stated.

With her words a grim distortion replaced Brent's sarcastic smile.

"You are going to marry me," he retorted snarlingly.

Helen answered rather quietly, considering how his words fired her anger.

"I promised to tell you when I made a decision like this," she said. "Well, you may persist in taking a ridiculous attitude if you choose, but I am going to marry Robert Ennis."

They had been standing. Brent now waved toward a chair. "Sit down," he said and seated himself on another.

"This is going to take time," he warned, as Helen disdained to comply. "There really isn't anything more to be said," she hinted.

"There is a great deal, and it will be pleasant either for you. You'd better sit down, my dear."

Helen glanced at her wrist-watch. "I am taking Miss Morris to the station in a few minutes," she told him. "Please say what you have to say as quickly as possible."

"I'd advise you to make other arrangements for getting her there," Brent remarked. "You do not take me seriously, I see, but you will shortly, and I predict that you will not be in a mood to drive out when this interview is over."

Helen refused to be frightened.

"Very well," Brent began as she stood waiting. His practice of politeness compelled him to rise and stand also. "You may as well have it straight from the shoulder—here it is: You will never marry Ennis!"

Helen smiled disdainfully.

"You won't have the nerve to tell him that," a criminal," Brent went on; "and if you marry him without telling him I'll expose you."

Helen's eyes were wide with mixed emotions, chiefly astonishment and disbelief, but there was fear lurking in them as well. Fear that Brent was evil enough to have found some way to wreck her happiness, however innocent of any wrong she herself might be.

She made a wordless sound of protest and shrank back from his closer, threatening approach.

"What have you to say to that?" he demanded.

Helen rallied her courage. "Only that you are a contemptible coward," she cried, "and utterly insane."

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Jack o' Lantern

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Uncle Wiggily one day saw a fine, large yellow pumpkin out in the farmer's cornfield, the rabbit gentleman said to himself:

"That pumpkin would make a fine Jack o' Lantern!"

So, being polite and thoughtful of the comfort of others, Mr. Longears asked the yellow vegetable:

"Do you mind being made into a Jack o' Lantern?"

"Thank you not in the least," murmured the pumpkin. "I might as well be made into a lantern as into a pie, though, for the matter of that, after you get through using me as a Halloween light your wife can cut me up for pie."

"Ha! I never thought of that. To be sure!" said the rabbit gentleman, skipping about in a jolly way. "Well, then, if you don't mind, I'll carve a face on you."

"Go ahead!" spoke the yellow pumpkin.

With his knife Uncle Wiggily cut a round piece out of the top of the pumpkin, leaving a bit of the vine on for a handle. And then, using a flat stone for a spoon, the rabbit scooped out the soft inside part of the pumpkin, together with the bunch of white seeds.

"You can save those," murmured the pumpkin, who said he didn't feel at all cut up over the matter. "If you plant them some time, they will grow next year. Or you can take them home to the children and roast them."

"So I can!" laughed the rabbit. "I never thought of that. Just fancy! Roast pumpkin seeds! How jolly!" So he put the seeds in his pocket and went on scooping with the flat stone for a spoon.

Pretty soon the shell of the pumpkin was scraped thin enough so a face could be cut on one side and a lighted candle stuck within to make it bright and shining like the morning face of a schoolboy.

"I hope I'm not hurting you," spoke Uncle Wiggily, who looked at the eyes, as if he were a dentist filling your tooth.

"No, I don't mind in the least," the yellow vegetable answered.

Then Uncle Wiggily began to carve the face, making holes for the eyes, another hole, shaped like a piece of pie, for the nose and a third hole shaped like a new moon for the laughing mouth.

"How you look like somebody!" said Uncle Wiggily, standing off to admire the Jack o' Lantern from a distance as he was perched on a stump. "You really have character!"

"I'm going to look like a real Jack o' Lantern," said the pumpkin, who was now feeling quite proud of himself.

The Revolt of the Septuagenarian Mother

Dorothy Dix

"The Right to Be Free Is the Slogan of the Hour, But It Doesn't Seem to Have Occurred to Anybody That the Old Crave a Little of This Much Vaunted Freedom," Cries a Sore-beset Mother

"The right to be free is the slogan of the hour, but it doesn't seem to have occurred to anybody that the old crave a little of this much-vaunted freedom," cries a sore-beset mother.

AN OLD lady said to me not long ago: "I am going to organize the Amalgamated Order of Emancipated Mothers and stage a rebellion against our tyrannical children who chicken-peck the life out of us. My dear," she went on whimsically, "you can never have any idea how downtrodden and oppressed a human being can be until you get to be in your seventies and have a family of devoted children. The more they love you and the more conscientious they are and the more anxious they are to do their duty, the more they tyrannize over you. I tell you there are times when I hear women complaining of their neglectful children when I actually feel like shedding tears of envy and telling them how lucky they are."

"This is the age of personal liberty. The right to be free is the slogan of the hour. Husbands and wives demand that the marriage tie be made an elastic bond. The young claim the privilege of living their own lives. We are taught that children should develop their own individuality without interference, but it doesn't seem to have occurred to anybody that the old crave a little of this much-vaunted freedom and that it is peculiarly galling to men and women who have directed their lives with fairly good success for sixty or seventy years to find themselves once more in leading strings."

"Now, as I have said, I have a family of particularly good and dutiful children and there isn't a day when I am not congratulated upon my good fortune. There isn't a day that some one doesn't say to me, 'Dear Mrs. X, how blessed you are in having such sons and daughters. I never saw anything like their devotion! Why, they literally watch over you like a mother over a sick babe,' and, of course, I smile and smirk hypocritically and respond that yes, indeed, I am lucky beyond my dreams."

"But privately I am thinking that I wish I could exchange a ton of this devotion for an ounce of freedom, and hat while a sick baby may like to have a mother watch its every step and count its pulse beats, a strong and healthy and self-willed old woman wants to be let alone and permitted to do as she pleases."

"And that is what my dear and devoted daughters never let me do. It's 'Mother, are you quite warm, don't you want a little shawl over your shoulders?' It's 'Mother, don't sit in that draft. Let me move your chair over here.' It's 'Mother, don't you think that coffee is too strong for you?' It's 'Mother, eat this nice custard instead of that pie. It is so much better for you.' It's 'Mother, don't you think you had better take a nap?' It's 'Mother, don't sit up and read that novel, until I feel like screaming out that I am not gentle and I still have enough sense to know whether I am hot or cold and whether I want to sit up or lie down and that I am better acquainted with my digestion than they are."

"Now you can get fed up on the society even of your own children and want to go off by yourself and do just exactly as you please without having to consult anybody's taste, convenience or desires. But have I that privilege? Far from it. I would like, for example, every now and then to go off on a trip by myself, or to go to some resort hotel where some of my old cronies are staying, but when I broach the plan my children veto it or one or the other of my daughters sacrifices herself to go along with me. And I can't tell her that the real reason I want to go is to get away from her for a while."

"Why, I am not even permitted to go down town alone, though I consider it a perfect lark to do so and to go to a restaurant for lunch and make a meal on lobster Newburg and cream puffs if I want to without Mary's disapproving eye upon me and her warning in my ears that milk toast would be so much better for me."

"It has been years now since I have had a dress that I really liked. Sally always goes shopping with me and picks out my clothes. I daresay she uses excellent judgment and that I am most suitably attired for a woman of my years, but it just happens that Sally's taste and my taste are not the same and I simply loathe the things she makes me buy. My daughters often urge me to buy more clothes, but what's the use when Sally will just get me another black garment or one of those sickly pastel shades instead of the nice cheerful red I would get if I had any say in the matter."

"My darling girls are so anxious to take care of me that they have doomed me to perpetual idleness, and if there is any worse punishment than that I don't know what it is. They say: 'Mother worked so hard in her youth that she is entitled to a rest now and we don't let her do a thing,' and they bridle with self-righteousness and think how good and kind they are being to me."

"They have no imagination, poor things, and so they never guess how dreary are the days in which one has nothing to do but kill time; how the hands that have always been busy ache for employment, how like a deposed queen a woman feels when all authority is taken from her in her own home and she becomes just a figure that sits by the fireside and waits for death."

"Of course, our children tyrannize over us through love. We live under a benevolent despotism in which our ears rule us for our own good, but we chafe under it. None the less we long for freedom and to do as we please. We don't want to be told when to rise up and sit down or what to eat or to have our clothes picked out for us. We don't want somebody to hold us by the hand every step we take and remind us that we are doddering, feeble old creatures who haven't sense enough to look out for ourselves."

"And it is a pity our children can't see this and give us a little of the liberty we crave. And that is why I am going to organize the Amalgamated Order of Emancipated Mothers, whose chief fight will be against devoted daughters."

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

Probably no meat is more universally popular than roast beef.

If the temperature is carefully watched and the time calculated, even a small roast proves satisfactory.

A fillet of beef or the tenderloin is the tenderest cut for a roast. It is also the highest in price, but there is no waste of any sort in bone, poor meat or fat.

Next to the fillet, the best cuts for roasting are the porterhouse and "prime" rib cuts. Many discriminating people prefer these roasts to the expensive fillet, contending that they are more flavorful and juicy.

"ROLLED ROAST" POPULAR

When the bones are left in a rib roast it is called a "standing rib roast." Scrapping the meat from the bones and rolling and tying the meat in shape produces the popular "rolled roast." The rolled roast is easier to carve, but the bones flavor the meat and gravy.

A middle cut of the sirloin, the back of the rump and the chuck rib all are used and make excellent roasts of varying prices.

Before putting a roast in the oven, wipe it well with a damp cloth—but do not put it in water. Cold water has a tendency to draw out the juices and also toughens the fibers of the meat.

An oven that is hot when the roast is first put in sears the entire surface of the meat and prevents the escape of the meat juices. The intense heat hardens the protein on the outside of the roast, causing loss of flavor.

A self-basting or open roast can be used. No water should ever be added during the cooking process. The meat itself furnishes plenty of moisture and water causes loss of flavor.

WEIGHT OF ROAST IMPORTANT

It is important that the weight of the roast is known. Seasoning and time of roasting are reckoned according to weight. Allow a teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper for each pound of meat. Fifteen to 30 minutes are allowed to the pound for roasting. A rolled roast which is more compact than a cut containing bones requires 20 minutes to the pound if the meat is to be rare. A standing rib roast needs only 15 minutes to the pound to be roasted rare. Twenty-five or 30 minutes to the pound produce well done roasts.

After the first 15 minutes of roasting, reduce the heat of the oven. Pre-heat oven to 500 degrees F. This is hot enough for pastry. At the end of 15 minutes, the surface of the roast is well sealed to prevent the escape of the flavorful juices. Reduce heat to 350 to 375 degrees F. and roast for the required length of time. If a covered roaster is used, do not put on the cover until the heat is reduced. Rub roast with salt and pepper mixed with a little flour when ready to put in the oven.

FIRE KILLED TEN

Seattle, Oct. 23.—The tenth victim of the pyromaniac who set fire to the Portland Hotel here last week, Robert Elms, nineteen, of Gig Harbor, Wash., died in a hospital here yesterday. Two other men are in a serious condition from burns and effect of smoke in their lungs.

To-morrow's Horoscope

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1929

Adverse planetary influences appear to rule to-day, according to astrology. It is a day for cautious procedure in all important affairs. Merchants and manufacturers should make the most of the early hours to-day.

When trade should be stimulated by international contracts. Initiative should be fairly successful in the morning. When individual enterprise should be undertaken with greater care. Manned production and mobilized commercial effort are foretold as likely to reach unprecedented results at this time, when American prosperity is to attain a peak envied by the world. The seers continue to prognosticate as a solution of the farmers' problems organized agricultural production on a vast scale that involves tremendous amounts of money and the most modern methods. Big business is to prove that the independent farmer must keep up with the latest inventions and must employ the most advanced methods of tilling the soil, astrologers declare. This is not a favorable day for beginning ocean voyages or for starting on long trips. Although special days may be threatening to travelers, the seers prophesy for the winter an unprecedented number of around-the-world tourists. The angular ray of Jupiter, to which is attributed success for England, seems to press closer understanding with the United States. Great Britain is to achieve fame through a new conquest of the air, it is foretold. American capital is to aid in building great ships for aerial navigation, that will bring new prosperity, the seers indicate. At this season, while the world is making ready for superb achievements, women will be little in the limelight, but they will be preparing for splendid public service, astrologers prophesy. Persons whose birthday it is may have a year that is rather uneventful, but nevertheless successful. Children born on this day, probably will be lively, unquenchable and popular. The subjects of this sign of Scorpio usually have will power, high purpose and positive individuality. Selva Lockwood, noted reformer, was born on this day, 1829. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Isaac Rich, 1801, philanthropist; Sir John George Bourne, 1857, Canadian historian; John Barta, 1808, artist; Tasker L. Oddie, 1876, United States senator.

Five special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, November 14, December 11, January 28, March 28, April 17. The crowd is closely related to the bird of paradise.

AT THE THEATRES

"FRONT PAGE" IS LURID PICTURE OF PRESS LIFE

Melodramatic Farce at Royal
Victoria Full of Action and Well Acted

If "The Front Page," the farce of American newspaper life presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre last evening, is intended to represent the methods and manners of the journalists in the country to the south, even allowing for methods of the yellow press, it probably falls far short of its aims. Granted that the collection of newspaper men who constitute the greater part of the cast are supposedly part of Chicago's citizenry, which may account for some of their high-handed methods of newsgathering, their "tough" behaviour and lurid language gives the layman a very poor and misleading impression of the "fourth estate." In the words of one of the characters, a newspaper reporter in Chicago is "a cross between a bootlegger and a bellhop."

IN MOST UNFAVORABLE LIGHT
It is difficult, however, for anyone who has had any association at all with such journalistic institutions as The Chicago Tribune or The Chicago News, to believe that the men who rise to heights of newspaper fame on those papers are of the half-gangster type depicted in the play. It is hard to imagine that the science of newsgathering in that city has not risen above the plane represented; that reporters cannot even use an occasional sentence without a curse or that managing editors can hold the loyalty of their newsmen by a system of slavery and bondage that passed with Lincoln's day. While the rush of a newspaper office when big news breaks is a matter of general knowledge, big news in this instance drives the reporters to a pitch of frenzy where work is beyond them.

It is difficult to see what the author of "The Front Page" is driving at, unless to depict the American newspaper man in the most unfavorable light and to show up the corruption underlying municipal politics in American cities.

Where To Go To-night

THE SCREEN
Capitol—"Street Girl."
Coliseum—"Interference."
Columbia—"The Little Snob."
Dominion—"The Cocoanuts."
Playhouse—"The Man in Hobbles."
ON THE STAGE

The mayor and sheriff are shown attempting to bribe, and then when those methods fail, attempting to kidnap the mayor of a remote town in order to secure the big negro vote in the pending municipal election.

The three scenes of this melodramatic farce are laid in the press room of the Criminal Courts, Chicago, overlooking a jail yard in which a man is to be hanged in a few hours. The seven newspaper men are awaiting the hanging, relieving the tedium with poker, drinks, and the occasional baiting of the sheriff to make the execution two hours earlier. Then suddenly shots are heard as the condemned man shoots his way out of jail, and the second act resolves itself into a veritable pandemonium as the pressmen report the happenings to their various papers via the telephone.

ACTING IS BRIGHT SPOT
The one bright spot in the production is the acting, each member of the big cast making the most of the somewhat poor material at their command. Franklin Parker gave a clever performance as Billy Johnson, the Swedish-American reporter of The Herald Examiner, who postponed his marriage in order to cover his paper when the big story broke.

Julius Ring was dramatic as the prostitute who befriended the murderer, Carl Williams, and who eventually committed suicide to distract the attention of the police and reporters when they were on the escaped convict's trail. Philip Zobel was amusing as the desk sergeant who propounded his views on psychology on every possible, and impossible, occasion. Doris Lundy was a dainty ingenue. Other roles were capably carried by John Dolan, George Chesebrough, Jack Carlyle, Robert Lawlor, Douglas Lawrence, Rand Barker, Roy Watson, Edna McKay, Tony Merlo, Jean Temple, Gilbert Clayton, Janet Miller, Ronca Button, Ernest Murray, Howard Rand, James Norval, Max Bayha, John Franks, Robert Forbes, Frank Sauer and Abe Hagg.

"The Front Page" will be repeated five special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, November 11, December 11, January 23, March 28, April 1.

SNOBISH GIRL'S STORY RELATED ON COLUMBIA SCREEN

"The Little Snob," a Warner Bros. production starring May McAvoy, is playing at the Columbia Theatre. The "little snob" because that by attending a swanky "finishing" school, during which times she decided that her Coney Island show folks—her father whose savings provided the schooling, and her beau, the "barker" in the show across the board—walk, were very common people indeed. It is amusing in the extreme, rugged, human and tender.

Tips on the very latest in dance steps are given by Colleen Moore in "Why Be Good?" also showing at the Columbia. Miss Moore portrays a schoolgirl, and her beau, the "barker" in the show across the board—walk, were very common people indeed. It is amusing in the extreme, rugged, human and tender.

BEAUTIES POSE FOR
CAMERA IN STORY
OF PHOTOGRAPHER
The loveliest girls in Hollywood posed for the art photographs which feature Tiffany-Stahl's production, "The Man in Hobbles," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

THE plot suggested by a story of Peter B. Kyne's, describes the career of a talented young photographer who eventually becomes a partner in a big Fifth Avenue studio specializing in photos of stage beauties. The scenes showing the dazzling creatures posing for their pictures are remarkably effective camera posing.

VETERAN STAR OF STAGE APPEARS IN CAPITOL PICTURE

One of the oldest stars of the legitimate stage, Joseph Cawthorn, appears in a comedy role in the Radio Picture "Street Girl," which is showing at the Capitol Theatre all this week. Cawthorn's long stage record makes him admirably fitted for the part.

He went on the stage at the age of four, and two years later went to London where he appeared in the leading music halls and theatres. He was starred in Broadway musical comedies for more than thirty years, and has appeared with practically every outstanding actor of his time.

Joseph Cawthorn's motion picture work dates back to 1926. He has appeared in a number of roles in a dozen successful productions.

POPULAR PLAYERS IN TALKIE ROLES AT THE COLISEUM

"Innocence," a talkie picture starring Evelyn Brent, William Powell, Olive Brook and Doris Kenyon, will have its last showing in Victoria to-night at the Coliseum Theatre. To-morrow the bill will change for the remainder of the week. The talking and musical score is especially good in "Innocence."

"Innocence" is from the great Broadway stage success of the same name. It played for nine months in New York and ran for more than two consecutive years in London. As produced on the screen it has had phenomenal runs in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia and other great cities of the United States.

The star players are all well-known and popular. Evelyn Brent and Doris Kenyon have been seen in many film successes, while Olive Brook and William Powell have risen to stars of the first magnitude since the talkies came.

OSCAR SHAW IN ROMANTIC LEAD OF "COCONUTS"

Motion picture leads and musical comedy stardom have carried Oscar Shaw's name to the front rank in the entertainment world. Harzold, the avenues to fame have been separate and distinct but, in "The Cocoanuts," starring the Marx Brothers, Shaw combines his dual talents in the romantic lead in this first screen musical comedy.

Shaw experienced his greatest success on the stage in "The Five O'Clock Girl," in which he co-starred with Mary Eaton. Now he and Miss Eaton are together again in "The Cocoanuts," made from the Marx Brothers' musical sensation. Shaw also won top-line position in such shows as "Oh, Kay," "Good Morning, Dearie," "Very Good Eddie," "The Rose of China" and Ziegfeld's "Midnight Frolic."

"The Cocoanuts" features the Dominion Theatre programme this week.

TELLS OF WORK WITH INDIANS

Canon Stocken to Be Speaker at Mission School Meeting To-night

Rev. Canon Stocken will give an illustrated address on his "Thirty-seven Years' Work Among the Alberta Blackfoot Indians" at the fourth meeting of the School of Missions in St. Andrew's Church lecture room, Broughton Street, this evening, beginning at 8.30 o'clock.

The address will be preceded by the regular programme of the school, beginning at 7.45 o'clock with devotions followed by a period of group study, the subject being "Missionary Hindrances and Handicaps."

An invitation is extended to the friends of all the churches to attend this meeting, either at the hour of opening or at the time of the address. As the purpose of the School of Missions is entirely educational, there will be no collection.

Do you lack energy?

...Beware of Constipation

HOW can your body be expected to function properly if it is filled with poisons set up by faulty elimination? Constipation begins its ravages by stealing away punch and energy.

Doctors know that insufficient roughage in the diet can make you a victim of constipation.

Act now. Eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly. It is a splendid aid to regularity. You'll be delighted with these brown, crisp-toasted flakes—good to eat and good for you!

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference
Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer.
Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal with milk or cream. You will find it as delicious as it is effective. Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel.
But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity. Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat. Write for free trial package to Canadian Postum Co., Limited, Toronto 2, Ontario.
Cases of recurrent constipation due to insufficient bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is chronic consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.
